Poke Tax Credits For College Costs

RIBICOFF PLAN WOULD HIT LOW-INCOME FAMILIES

Washington (AP)—Giving tax credits for college expenses would result in higher tuition and increased hardship on low-income families, a group of state university presidents said Friday.

They called the idea unsound fiscally, educationally, and in terms of national policy.

The tax credit plan is sponsored by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., as an amendment to the tax reduction bill now before the Senate. The Senate Finance Committee rejected the proposed amendment, 10 to 7, but Ribicoff plans to carry the fight to the Senate floor where a vote is scheduled for next Tuesday.

No Benefit

The university presidents, meeting as the executive committee of the Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, said institutions would get no benefit from the amendment unless they raise their tuition and fees.

Tax credits, the presidents said, would enable colleges to raise tuition and say that the government, not the student's family, was absorbing the increase.

The Ribicoff proposal has not been greeted warmly in academic circles.

The National Education Association opposes it as "very dangerous legislation in terms of possible adverse effect on public elementary and secondary education."

The Association of American Colleges approved it early this month, but only over the strong recommendation of its legislative committee.

Declined

The American Council on Education formerly supported the idea, but declined to renew its support at its latest annual meeting.

Most of the support Ribicoff has gained in college ranks has been from small, private colleges.

Fred H. Harrington, president of the University of Wisconsin, said Friday, "There is no quarrel between the public and private institutions. But the tax credit plan isn't going to help the private colleges unless they raise their tuitions."

Harrington also noted that Dr. Roger Freeman of the Hoover Institution at Stanford University testified in favor of the proposal and said that colleges and universities would recapture 75% of the tax credit by tuition increases.

The Treasury estimates the plan would cost $750 million in lost revenue the first year, and increase to about $1.3 billion annually within three years.

Wayne Reitz, president of the University of Florida, said both private and public colleges need financial help from the government.

"The best solution," Reitz said, "is direct government aid to the colleges. This would help both types of institutions and still protect the student from low-income families."

The Ribicoff plan provides tax credits on a sliding scale, up to a maximum credit of $25 on $1,500 in expenses. Ribicoff has said it is designed primarily to help middle-income families.

Elmer Ellis, president of the University of Missouri, said the plan, by speeding tuition increases, would hurt those families without sufficient income to profit by the tax credit.

"It also would work to the disadvantage of the thousands and thousands of students working their way through college," he said, "they would have to pay higher tuitions, but they would get no tax credits."

Ranger Back On Target

... AFTER MIDCOURSE CORRECTION

Pasadena, Calif. (AP)—Ranger 6 and its cargo of television cameras are on a collision course to the moon and should hit near its center at 11:24 p.m. CST Sunday, space scientists said Friday.

Harris M. Schurmeier, Ranger project manager, told a news conference that the spacecraft should land within a 150-mile-diameter circle in a flat plain known as the Sea of Tranquility just to the right of the center of the moon.

When launched from Cape Kennedy Thursday, Ranger 6 was on a course that would have taken it 2,000 miles to the left of the moon and brought it within 600 miles of the lunar surface on the backside.

A midcourse correction executed early Friday morning by remote control re-aligned the spacecraft so it would land almost dead center—a correction of 3,200 miles, Schurmeier said.

The spacecraft carries six television cameras designed to return perhaps 2,000 pictures—taken virtually to the moment of impact—of the lunar landscape. Hopefully they would be the first close-range shots of the moon.

This would make Ranger 6 the first major success in the long and costly program aimed at investigating the moon's surface.

Another first. Thus it appeared the United States was set to score another first in space—the best pictures yet of the mysterious surface American astronauts may encounter later in this decade.

At about 10 minutes before impact while the spacecraft is some 900 miles above the moon's surface the six cameras are supposed to begin operating and continue until Ranger 6 crashes at more than 5,000 miles an hour. The photographs will be transmitted to earth instantaneously during the descent.

Officials said pictures could be taken down to a fraction of a second before impact and show an area about a half mile square.

Wide Angle. The first, high-altitude pictures should show surface areas 151,000 and 16,800 miles square, taken by two wide-angle cameras, and 9,480 to 1,959 miles square, taken by four narrow-angle cameras.

Plans call for the wide-angle cameras to take 117 pictures each, the narrow-angle cameras 714 each.

The highest altitude pictures should be comparable to those which have been taken by large telescopes from earth. The last few pictures may show objects as small as a card table.

Far Superior. If so they would be far superior to the photographs of the backside of the moon, made by Russia's Lunik 3 in October 1959. The Russian pictures were taken at altitudes ranging from 43,000 to 4,300 miles and were indistinct.

Schurmeier said the general target area was chosen so the space-craft's cameras would photograph sharp shadows from the sun's light on the leading side of the moon. He said this should help scientists determine how rough or how smooth the lunar surface will be for astronaut landings.

Chiefs Reject Troops

London (AP)—The United States and Britain Friday offered to raise 10,000 allied troops to keep peace in Cyprus, but the island's feuding leaders called the plan unacceptable.

Tied together by stiff conditions, the package deal would take up to 2,000 U.S. troops into the embattled east Mediterranean island republic.

U.S. Ambassador David Bruce insisted American participation depends in particular on the agreement of President Makarios' government dominated by the Greek-Cypriot majority. U.S. and British officials outlined the plan to Makarios, the Greek Cypriot leader, in Nicosia, the Cypriot capital.

Unacceptable. "The plan is totally unacceptable," Greek Cypriot Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou told reporters in London a few hours later. "It would amount to the occupation of Cyprus by the forces of the countries concerned."

Kyprianou spoke out after conferring with Greek Foreign Minister Christos Karamanolis-Palamas, whose formal reply is now being worked out by the Athens government. Makarios' men insist that any international force be answerable to the United Nations Security Council.

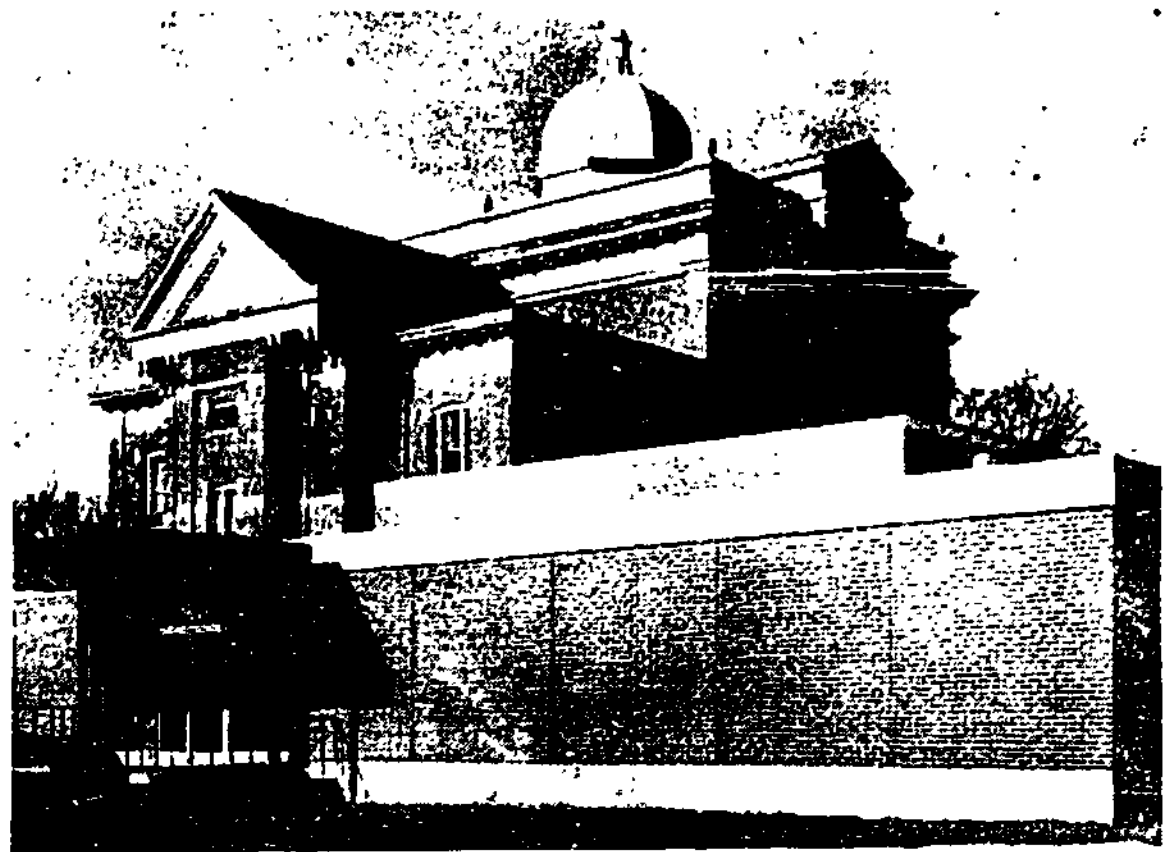

The Turkish Cypriots led by Rauf Denktaş told Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys the plan was unacceptable, although for different reasons. They object because it would not permit the reinforcement of Turkey's 650-man garrison in the isle.

Menaced. Opposition of both Cypriot factions, although not necessarily their final word, clearly threatened the outcome of the Washington-London initiative.

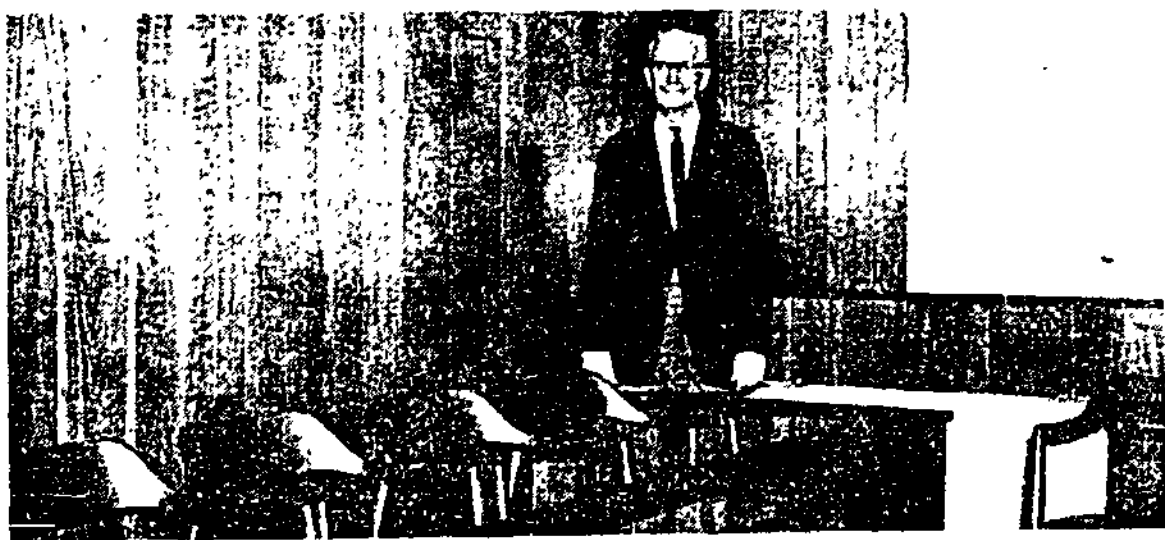

It also foreshadowed grave new difficulties for the allied peace-makers.

At the bottom of the dispute, that led to Turkish-Greek Cypriot fighting on the island last month, is Makarios' plan to amend the constitution. The Turkish minority says his amendments will erase the veto rights it holds over legislation.

Possible. It is possible that Kyprianou and Denktaş assumed their critical postures to rouse popular and governmental opinion in Greece and Turkey against the plan. Kyprianou is flying to Nicosia for consultations with Makarios. He returns Monday.

A CONTRAST . . . the new judicial building, old courthouse.

AN IMPROVEMENT . . . Wilson and his courtroom.

Now He Has Courtroom

... AFTER 27 YEARS AS JUDGE

By GENE BUDIG
Outstate Nebraska Bureau
Kearney — After 27 years, Buffalo County Judge Harvey Wilson has a courtroom.

"It was almost worth waiting for," he said, while showing the spacious new county judicial building.

In past years, he held court "in an old office across the way."

He was referring to the 75-year-old courthouse, which is still used.

"This is the finest court building in Nebraska," Wilson declared. "This marks the first time we have had enough room to operate in."

His long-awaited courtroom and office occupy the west wing of the $150,000 brick building.

Also included are quarters for District Judge S. S. Sidner, who shares his colleague's enthusiasm about the county addition.

An impressive law library and legal records room are downstairs.

The courtroom areas are paneled with a rich, walnut-colored wood. White slabs of marble flank the judicial benches. Carpet covers the bench area.

"That library is something to see," Wilson noted. "It also ranks high in the state."

A Kearney attorney since 1923, the judge admitted the pleasant surroundings "may be making me a bit softer."

Those on the other side of the bench question this.

The judicial building was finished little more than a month ago. Open house will be held this Sunday afternoon from two to five.

Jack B. Lindner, 30, has been named Lincoln's second full-time prosecuting attorney.

City Attorney Ralph Nelson confirmed Friday.

Lindner, recently of Knoxville, Tenn., will commence his duties Monday and will assist City Prosecutor Fred J. Swihart.

Nelson said the need for two full-time prosecuting attorneys has resulted from increasing Municipal and District Court case loads.

Lindner will succeed Jerry Snyder, who has served as assistant prosecutor on a part-time basis. Lindner's salary will be $7,200 annually.

Lindner, a native of Waterloo, Ia., is a 1960 law graduate from the University of Tennessee. He practiced law at Knoxville and was a Sessions Court night judge for a year there.

Lindner, who resides at 2143 Lake, is married and has a daughter.

Nelson said office space for the two prosecuting attorneys is being rented at 903 O because of insufficient space at City Hall or the Municipal Building.

De Gaulle explained that he recognized Red China because it was the effective government of the entire Chinese mainland. But he paid a warm personal tribute to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek "to whom the Chinese people will render homage someday."

He left completely in the air the problem of recognizing "two Chinas" or the possibility of breaking with the Nationalists, or Chinese representation in the United Nations.

Main Points. De Gaulle made these other main points:

—He is satisfied with the functioning of the Gaullist Fifth Republic's strong man constitution during the five years he has been in power and does not plan to change it.

—He is anxious to increase French aid to developing countries, not only former French colonies in Africa but also countries of Latin America and other parts of the world.

Necessary. —He believes closer political unity in Europe is necessary. He said France has made proposals in this direction and is ready to hear what its allies have to say. But he gave no indication he has backed down on his ideas for a loose federation which other European Common Market members have rejected.

He also gave no hint he is any more inclined toward British membership in the Common market.

—He is both unable and unwilling to say now whether he will run for a second term as president in 1965.

He left the issue of Southeast Asia and recognition of Red China to the last. He gave these main reasons for establishing diplomatic relations with Red China:

—The Peking regime has been the effective government of the mainland for more than 15 years.

No Longer. —Since the Moscow-Peking break the Russians no longer can be considered as speaking for Red China.

—There is "no political reality" concerning any country in Asia in which China is not involved.

—Neutralization of Southeast Asia can be achieved only by agreement with Red China.

Ups Influence. De Gaulle expressed belief that with establishment of diplomatic relations it will be possible for France to make its influence felt in Peking in matters which it is directly interested, such as the future of Southeast Asia.

He did not go into detail on European political unity but he made it clear he still supports this against the United States idea of a broader Atlantic community.

Pressing For Neutralization

... OF SOUTHEAST ASIA

Paris (UPI)—President Charles de Gaulle directly challenged United States policy Friday with a demand for neutralization of Southeast Asia by agreement with Communist China.

He made it clear that the hope of neutralizing Southeast Asia—where France was once a colonial power—was one of the main reasons for establishing diplomatic relations with the Peking regime last Monday.

He told a crowded news conference that neutralization would have to be the subject of international guarantees and that it would mean withdrawal of all foreign troops and the end of all foreign military aid.

Provoked. In this De Gaulle provoked a new policy clash with the United States which is heavily committed to military support for South Viet Nam and which strongly opposes its neutralization.

De Gaulle made another pointed dig at the United States in calling for closer political unity in Europe. He warned that the policies of those who oppose it "tend to deliver Europe into the domination of America."

De Gaulle spoke for an hour and a half and gave what newsmen agreed was one of the most brilliant and lucid performances of his career in explaining the whole range of Gaullist policies.

Little New. But in contrast to his news conference of Jan 14 last year in which he vetoed British membership of the European Common Market, he said very little that, in fact, was new.

The conference began at 3 p.m. De Gaulle walked slowly through a red curtain and sat down in a red and gilt chair, putting an orange folder containing his "answers" on the table covered with a gold-fringed red cloth.

To the audience of 1,000 in the ornate state salon of the Elysee Palace he delivered a brief speech in which he said France is at peace abroad but is taking steps to build up its nuclear force so it can "deal serenely with the subjects that concern her."

Traditionally his answers were prepared in advance to the point where a Paris news paper Friday published a cartoon showing him telling the newsmen: "Do you wish to pose questions to my answers?"

De Gaulle explained that he recognized Red China because it was the effective government of the entire Chinese mainland. But he paid a warm personal tribute to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek "to whom the Chinese people will render homage someday."

He left completely in the air the problem of recognizing "two Chinas" or the possibility of breaking with the Nationalists, or Chinese representation in the United Nations.

Senate Sets Amendment Showdown

Washington (UPI) — The Senate agreed Friday to take a showdown vote Tuesday on an amendment to its big tax cut bill that would give a tax break to parents sending children through college.

The proposal by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., could cost the government $750 million in revenue. It would provide for tax credits of up to $325 for a college student's tuition, fees, books and supplies.

Administration managers of the $11.6 billion tax reduction bill oppose Ribicoff's amendment on grounds it is too costly and said they believed they had the votes to block it. Ribicoff said he thought its chances of approval were excellent.

Was Rejected. The Senate Finance Committee rejected the proposal on a 10-7 vote while it was considering the tax bill.

The agreement to vote on the plan came as the Senate plowed through its second day of debate on the tax legislation. The day also was marked by a squabble over whether the Senate was speeding up or slowing down action on the measure.

In routine fashion the Senate adopted without dissent 152 out of 153 committee changes in the bill. At the insistence of Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., it set aside for a separate vote later a proposal affecting capital gains taxes.

Attempt. Douglas and Ribicoff also tried to get Senate leaders to agree on a procedure under which voting on amendments to the bill would start Monday.

Acting Democratic leader George A. Smather, D-Fla., and GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., objected on grounds that some 30 absentee senators had been assured no votes would be taken until later.

Shortly afterward came the decision to vote Tuesday on the Ribicoff amendment.

. . . AFTER MIDCOURSE CORRECTION

Pasadena, Calif. (AP)—Ranger 6 and its cargo of television cameras are on a collision course to the moon and should hit near its center at 11:24 p.m. CST Sunday, space scientists said Friday.

Harris M. Schurmeier, Ranger project manager, told a news conference that the spacecraft should land within a 150-mile-diameter circle in a flat plain known as the Sea of Tranquility just to the right of the center of the moon.

When launched from Cape Kennedy Thursday, Ranger 6 was on a course that would have taken it 2,000 miles to the left of the moon and brought it within 600 miles of the lunar surface on the backside.

Dead Center
A midcourse correction executed early Friday morning by remote control re-aimed the spacecraft so it would land almost dead center — a correction of 3,200 miles, Schurmeier said.

The spacecraft carries six television cameras designed to return perhaps 3,000 pictures — taken virtually to the moment of impact — of the lunar landscape. Hopefully they would be the first close-range shots of the moon.

This would make Ranger 6 the first major success in the long and costly program aimed at investigating the moon's surface.

Another First
Thus it appeared the United States was set to score another first in space — the best pictures yet of the mysterious surface American astronauts may encounter later in this decade.

At about 10 minutes before impact while the spacecraft is some 900 miles above the moon's surface the six cameras are supposed to begin operating and continue until Ranger 6 crashes at more than 5,000 miles an hour. The photographs will be transmitted to earth instantaneously during the descent.

Officials said pictures could be taken down to a fraction of a second before impact and show an area about a half mile square.

Wide Angle
The first, high-altitude pictures should show surface areas 151,000 and 16,800 miles square, taken by two wide-angle cameras, and 9,480 to 1,950 miles square, taken by 900 narrow-angle cameras.

Plans call for the wide-angle cameras to take 117 pictures each, the narrow-angle cameras 714 each.

The highest altitude pictures should be comparable to those which have been taken by large telescopes from earth. The last few pictures may show objects as small as a card table.

Far Superior
If so they would be far superior to the photographs of the backside of the moon, made by Russia's Lunik 3 in October 1959. The Russian pictures were taken at altitudes ranging from 43,000 to 4,300 miles and were indistinct.

Schurmeier said the general target area was chosen so the space-craft's cameras would photograph sharp shadows from the sun's light on the leading side of the moon. He said this should help scientists determine how rough or how smooth the lunar surface will be for astronaut landings.

REDS LITTLE TOO PIGGISH

Coburg, Germany (AP)—An East German pig breeder brought his wife, five children and mother-in-law with him when he escaped to the West over the Bavarian border early Friday.

He told West German frontier police: "I fled because I couldn't keep up with the Communist production plan."

Modena, Italy (AP)—A Communist member of the Town Council at nearby Carpi has quit the party after seeing the Berlin wall.

"My decision came after long meditation after I found myself in front of the Berlin wall," says Dr. Elio Rossi, 27, who visited Berlin and the Soviet Union last year.

"Communism does not contribute to a better society. After seeing Russia only one in bad faith can be pleased with this system."

Johnson Seeks More Federal Help For Farmers

Washington (AP) — President Johnson committed himself Friday to fighting for broad federal help for the nation's farmers but at less cost than this year's government spending in that field.

In a special message to Congress, Johnson stressed that farmers are caught in "a cruel cost-price squeeze" that is eating up rising gross farm income. These deep-seated problems, he said, are caused by abundance, not scarcity and "they tax our ingenuity."

Most of his specific proposals already are embraced in bills now before Congress or being tested in pilot projects.

His proposals for commodity programs are in line with those advanced last year by President John F. Kennedy and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

Controversy

But Johnson's view on specific farm problems and his firm support of a big federal role in agriculture provide a basis for election-year controversy. Many Republicans and some farm groups have demanded that the government make a gradual withdrawal from government price, production and marketing control programs.

Johnson saw his message as a major effort to reconcile

"the needs of our farm families for a decent income with the necessity of making this abundance available at reasonable prices for domestic consumption and export."

"Prosperity on the farm gives impetus to prosperity in the city," he said.

Emphasis

The President laid heavy emphasis on a desire to help not only farmers but all 55 million rural Americans. Too many of these, he said, live in poverty and lack education, skills and earning power "which their talents warrant."

"In this message, in my housing message, and in the forthcoming special messages on poverty, education and health, I am proposing a series of actions which will assist rural America to realize the promise of its potential," Johnson said.

The President put the price tag on his program in the budget message 10 days ago, when he asked $5.8 billion for over-all farm spending in the year starting next July 1. That's $1.1 billion below this year's total.

Research

The new total includes about $1.7 billion for farm aid programs, compared with $1.9 billion this year. The remainder would go for research. Food for Peace and other programs which do not provide direct payments to farmers.

The broadened payments to increase farm income would not raise the costs of farm programs, an administration spokesman said, but would be financed from savings that would result through a planned reduction in surpluses. No details were given.

Johnson said "the agricultural commodity programs developed during the past 30 years have served as well ... but they are in need of improvement."

Immediate

"The commodities requiring immediate attention," Johnson said, "are cotton, wheat, dairy products, sugar and potatoes. At present, the programs for these foods and fibers serve neither the producers, the consumers, nor the taxpayer as well as they should."

One of his recommendations expressed dissatisfaction with the current sugar import system under which foreign countries are assigned specific shares of the U.S. market. He said that on the basis of an intensive study he will soon "make recommendations for remedial legislation."

For the present, Johnson said, "I recommend the removal of marketing restrictions on the sale of domestically produced sugar during the calendar year of 1964. This legislation will relieve the pressure on world market supplies at a time when these supplies are short."

Permanent

Johnson called for a five-year extension of the Food-for-Peace program and an expansion on a permanent basis of the domestic food stamp program. The United States has moved more than $12 billion in surpluses to over 100 needy countries under the Food-for-Peace program. The stamp plan enables needy persons to buy more food through regular commercial channels, with about 6 million people now participating.

One thing that could bring heavy fire on Johnson is his revival of part of the controversial plan advanced in 1949 by Charles F. Brannan, secretary of agriculture in the Truman administration. This would involve direct subsidy payments out of the Treasury to augment the market income of cotton, wheat, milk and potato producers.

—U.S. OFFERS FIRST STEP— Lid Sought On Striking Power

Geneva (AP) — The United States called on the Soviet Union Friday to join in a treaty banning any increase or improvement of nuclear striking power as a first step to halting the arms race.

U.S. disarmament negotiator William C. Foster explained to the 17-nation disarmament conference some of the American thinking on the verified freeze of delivery systems proposed by President Johnson Jan. 21. There was no immediate Soviet reaction.

It was the first of the five proposals made by Johnson to be explained in some detail. U.S. officials said the explanation was left somewhat vague to allow room for future negotiations.

Included

Foster said the freeze should include all long-range strategic missiles and bomber planes and all antimissile missile systems.

"A freeze on strategic delivery systems without a freeze on antimissile systems would be destabilizing and therefore unacceptable," Foster said.

He suggested an international control of declared missile plants and testing sites as well as surprise spot checks "to guard against possible undeclared facilities."

Maximum

Each nation would possess an agreed maximum number of strategic bombers and missiles, and would be permitted to replace only those destroyed under international control. The Soviet Union has proposed that all bombers be destroyed.

Missile testing without warheads would be permitted to "insure that missile systems continue to be reliable over a period of time," Foster said. But no nation would be allowed to develop a "significantly new type" of delivery vehicle.

Foster said this would "halt the race to produce better strategic vehicles to carry bigger warheads (and) would mean an end to the qualitative as well as the quantitative strategic arms race."

Not Specific

Foster's explanation made no specific mention of ships or submarines. American officials said the exact types of delivery systems to be included in the ban remained subject to negotiation.

Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin has yet to give any formal reply to the Johnson proposals. He told delegates and newsmen informally that the proposals still are being studied in the Kremlin.

He repeatedly has stated, however, that an East-West treaty to limit nuclear striking capacity is only possible if the West drops its plans for a multinational nuclear force of the North Atlantic Treaty powers.

How Can You?

"How can you talk of 'freezing' the nuclear menace if you are planning to increase it?" he ironically asked newsmen earlier this week.

The United States has asserted that it is going ahead with the multinational force and will not allow Tsarapkin to make it a subject of negotiations.

MRS. BECKWITH ... goes to trial.

Witness Links Gun To Accused Killer ... TRADED WITH BECKWITH

Jackson, Miss. (AP) — The prosecution tried Friday to link Byron De La Beckwith to a high powered rifle found in bushes overlooking the home of slain civil rights leader Medgar Evers.

After introducing the gun as evidence, Dist. Atty. William L. Waller called to the stand a young Mississippi Delta cotton farmer who said he had traded a 30-06 Enfield rifle to Beckwith four years ago.

Innis Thornton McIntyre said:

"Without knowing the (serial) number, it would strictly be an opinion but in my opinion it is the same gun."

Didn't Have It

The serial number of the rifle in hand was available—1,052,682—but McIntyre said he didn't have the serial number of the rifle he bought from a mail order house and later traded to Beckwith.

Both Beckwith, a 43-year-old fertilizer salesman from Greenwood, and McIntyre, 26, are avid gun collectors. McIntyre is from Ita Bena, near Greenwood.

McIntyre testified he called Jackson police and gave them Beckwith's name two days after the slaying last June 12—and one day after police found the rifle. He said he had been pictures of the weapon in newspapers.

Arrested

Beckwith was arrested 11 days after the slaying. Police said a fingerprint on the rifle's telescopic sight led them to Beckwith.

McIntyre's account of the trade was the only bit of evidence in the first day of testimony linking Beckwith to the slaying.

Beckwith faces possible death in the gas chamber—depending on the verdict of the jury of 12 white men.

Seats filled

For the first time since the trial started last Monday, spectators filled all of the 300 seats in the courtroom during the afternoon session.

A city detective told of finding a perfect sniper's nest in a patch of honeysuckle and sweet gum trees across the street from the driveway where a rifle bullet killed Evers.

Shriver Boosts Kennedy

Washington (AP) — Peace Corps director Sargent Shriver said Friday "I don't think I'm the guy who's going to get asked" to run for vice president. He said his brother-in-law, Robert F. Kennedy, would be "terrific."

Shriver was questioned by reporters after appearing before the House Foreign Affairs Committee to ask for $115 million to run the Peace Corps during the next fiscal year.

He got a cordial reception there. Ranking Republican Rep. Francis P. Bolton, R-Ohio, said she was thrilled over the success of the Peace Corps. Several Republicans voiced hope, amid laughter, that he'd stay on that job indefinitely rather than run with President Johnson on the Democratic presidential ticket.

Not Decided

Afterwards, Shriver told newsmen "I've not decided to rule out anything or rule in anything" as to the vice presidential possibility. He added: "I came down here at the request of President Kennedy to try to do a job ... I've attended to my knitting as closely as possible. I've made a point of this. I'm not running for anything."

He said he watches the opinion polls with as much interest as anyone. He has been high on their list of possible second place candidates.

Who's Better

Asked about some of the other names mentioned, he said the attorney general, brother of the late president, "would be terrific. After all, who's got a better record? He's obviously got all the qualifications."

He also mentioned Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn.

Would he run if Johnson asked him to?

"I think I ought to tell him that if I am asked," Shriver said. "I don't worry about it. I don't think I'm the guy who's going to get asked."

He said nobody but the President could make the decision.

Khanh Announces Minh To Be Aide

... U.S. WANTED CONTINUITY

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP) — Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh announced Friday that Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh, popular chief of the junta he overthrew, has agreed to become adviser to the new 35-man military council.

The United States, which is pouring both economic and military aid into this Communist-ruled nation, had made clear it wanted at least some continuity between the successive governments.

Khanh told a news conference the members of his 35-man council tried all day Thursday, the day of the coup, to persuade Minh to join them, but that he consented only to become an adviser.

Feelings

"He put too much stress on his own feelings," Khanh said.

The new strongman, who was an army corps commander when he engineered the coup, once served under Minh in a military staff job. Khanh is 37; Minh 47. Both are Buddhists, the dominant religion of South Viet Nam.

Khanh promised the Vietnamese people a government of national union made up of representatives from all walks of life. But he warned that he will have to "apply a number of temporary measures aimed at effectively safeguarding public order."

The warning evidently meant that Khanh and the generals and colonels he named to the council are in no hurry to surrender power to civilian authority.

Four members of the old junta who were arrested Thursday are alive and "in a secure place," Khanh said. He promised them a fair trial.

Three are major generals accused of conspiring with France to neutralize South Viet Nam in line with a program advocated by President Charles de Gaulle to promote nonalignment across Southeast Asia.

They are former defense minister Tran Van Don; the military chief of staff, Le Van Kim; and the Saigon police chief, Mai Huu Nuan.

Unannounced

The fourth man is Maj. Gen. Ton That Dinh, former interior minister. He faces unannounced charges for his activities under the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem, who was deposed and killed last November.

Radio Peking broadcast a declaration by Communist North Viet Nam that "contradictions between U.S. imperialism and its lackeys" led to the coup. It said the coup created more favorable conditions for Communist victories in South Viet Nam's civil war.

Qualified American sources said there was no increase in guerrilla operations. As in the period immediately after Diem's downfall, Red field units evidently were not geared to step up their operations quickly to take advantage of the confusion in Saigon.

Johnson Seeks More Federal Help For Farmers

Washington (P) — President Johnson committed himself Friday to fighting for broader federal help for the nation's farmers but at less cost than this year's government spending in that field.

In a special message to Congress, Johnson stressed that farmers are caught in "a cruel cost-price squeeze" that is eating up rising gross farm income. These deep-seated problems, he said, are caused by abundance, not scarcity and "they tax our ingenuity."

Most of his specific proposals already are embraced in bills now before Congress or being tested in pilot projects.

His proposals for commodity programs are in line with those advanced last year by President John F. Kennedy and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

Controversy

But Johnson's view on specific farm problems and his firm support of a big federal role in agriculture provide a basis for election-year controversy. Many Republicans and some farm groups have demanded that the government make a gradual withdrawal from government price, production and marketing control programs.

Johnson saw his message as a major effort to reconcile

"the needs of our farm families for a decent income with the necessity of making this abundance available at reasonable prices for domestic consumption and export."

"Prosperity on the farm gives impetus to prosperity in the city," he said.

Emphasis

The President laid heavy emphasis on a desire to help not only farmers but all 55 million rural Americans. Too many of these, he said, live in poverty and lack education, skills and earning power "which their talents warrant."

"In this message, in my housing message, and in the forthcoming special messages on poverty, education and health, I am proposing a series of actions which will assist rural America to realize the promise of its potential," Johnson said.

The President put the price tag on his program in the budget message 10 days ago, when he asked $5.8 billion for over-all farm spending in the year starting next July 1. That's $1.1 billion below this year's total.

Research

The new total includes about $1.7 billion for farm aid programs, compared with $1.9 billion this year. The remainder would go for research, Food for Peace and other programs which do not provide direct payments to farmers.

The broadened payments to increase farm income would not raise the costs of farm programs, an administration spokesman said, but would be financed from savings that would result through a planned reduction in surpluses. No details were given.

Johnson said "the agricultural commodity programs developed during the past 30 years have served as well... but they are in need of improvement."

Immediate

"The immediate requirements requiring immediate attention," Johnson said, "are cotton, wheat, dairy products, sugar and potatoes. At present, the programs for these foods and fibers serve neither the producers, the consumers, nor the taxpayer as well as they should."

One of his recommendations expressed dissatisfaction with the current sugar import system under which foreign countries are assigned specific shares of the U.S. market. He said that on the basis of an intensive study he will soon "make recommendations for remedial legislation."

For the present, Johnson said, "I recommend the removal of marketing restrictions on the sale of domestically produced sugar during

Permanent

Johnson called for a five-year extension of the Food-for-Peace program and an expansion on a permanent basis of the domestic food stamp program. The United States has moved more than $12 billion in surpluses to over 100 needy countries under the Food-for-Peace program. The stamp plan enables needy persons to buy more food through regular commercial channels, with about 6 million people now participating.

One thing that could bring heavy fire on Johnson is his revival of part of the controversial plan advanced in 1948 by Charles F. Brannan, secretary of agriculture in the Truman administration. This would involve direct subsidy payments out of the Treasury to augment the market income of cotton, wheat, milk and potato producers.

—U.S. OFFERS FIRST STEP— Lid Sought On Striking Power

Geneva (P)—The United States called on the Soviet Union Friday to join in a treaty banning any increase or improvement of nuclear striking power as a first step to halting the arms race.

U.S. disarmament negotiator William C. Foster explained to the 17-nation disarmament conference some of the American thinking on the verified freeze of delivery systems proposed by President Johnson Jan. 21. There was no immediate Soviet reaction.

It was the first of the five proposals made by Johnson to be explained in some detail. U.S. officials said the explanation was left somewhat vague to allow room for future negotiations.

Missile testing without warheads would be permitted to "insure that missile systems continue to be reliable over a period of time," Foster said. But no nation would be allowed to develop a "significantly new type" of delivery vehicle.

Foster said this would "halt the race to produce better strategic vehicles to carry bigger warheads (and) would mean an end to the quantitative as well as the qualitative strategic arms race."

Not Specific

Foster's explanation made no specific mention of ships or submarines. American officials said the exact types of delivery systems to be included in the ban remained subject to negotiation.

Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin has yet to give any formal reply to the Johnson proposals. He told delegates and newsmen informally that the proposals still are being studied in the Kremlin.

He repeatedly has stated, however, that an East-West treaty to limit nuclear striking capacity is only possible if the West drops its plans for a multinational nuclear force of the North Atlantic Treaty powers.

Included

Foster said the freeze should include all long-range strategic missiles and bomber planes and all antimissile missile systems.

A freeze on strategic delivery systems without a freeze on antimissile systems would be destabilizing and therefore unacceptable," Foster said.

He suggested an international control of declared missile plants and testing sites as well as surprise spot checks "to guard against possible undeclared facilities."

Maximum

Each nation would possess an agreed maximum number of strategic bombers and missiles, and would be permitted to replace only those destroyed under international control. The Soviet Union has proposed that all bombers be destroyed.

How Can You?

"How can you talk of 'freezing' the nuclear menace if you are planning to increase it?" he ironically asked newsmen earlier this week.

The United States has asserted that it is going ahead with the multinational force and will not allow Tsarapkin to make it a subject of negotiations.

MRS. BECKWITH . . . goes to trial.

Witness Links Gun To Accused Killer

. . . TRADED WITH BECKWITH

Jackson, Miss. (P) — The prosecution tried Friday to link Byron De La Beckwith to a high powered rifle found in bushes overlooking the home of slain civil rights leader Medgar Evers.

After introducing the gun as evidence, Dist. Atty. William L. Waller called to the stand a young Mississippi Delta cotton farmer who said he had traded a 30-06 Enfield rifle to Beckwith four years ago.

Innis Thornton McIntyre said: "Without knowing the (serial) number, it would strictly be an opinion but in my opinion it is the same gun."

Didn't Have It

The serial number of the rifle in hand was available—1,052,682—but McIntyre said he didn't have the serial number of the rifle he bought from a mail order house and later traded to Beckwith.

Both Beckwith, a 43-year-old fertilizer salesman from Greenwood, and McIntyre, 26, are avid gun collectors. McIntyre is from Itta Bena, near Greenwood.

McIntyre testified he called Jackson police and gave them Beckwith's name two days after the slaying last June 12—and one day after police found the rifle. He said he had been pictures of the weapon in newspapers.

Arrested

Beckwith was arrested 11 days after the slaying. Police said a fingerprint on the rifle's telescopic sight led them to Beckwith.

McIntyre's account of the trade was the only bit of evidence in the first day of testimony linking Beckwith to the slaying.

Beckwith faces possible death in the gas chamber—depending on the verdict of the jury of 12 white men.

Seats filled

For the first time since the trial started last Monday, spectators filled all of the 300 seats in the courtroom during the afternoon session.

A city detective told of finding a perfect sniper's nest in a patch of honeysuckle and sweet gum trees across the street from the driveway where a rifle bullet killed Evers.

Detective John Chamblee described the clump of bushes and trees as a perfect concealment, 200 feet from the place where Evers was shot.

Two witnesses backed up Chamblee's opinion that the fatal shot came out of the bushes on the edge of a vacant lot.

Walking

Mrs. Betty Jean Coley, a slender 32-year-old brunette, and 17-year-old Kenneth Adcock, said they were walking together on a street near the bushes when the shot broke the midnight quiet.

They heard a man running away, they said, but—startled and frightened—they kept walking to the house where both lived.

The widow of the slain Negro leader testified briefly.

Mrs. Evers, wearing an aqua blue jersey dress, told of hearing the shot, rushing outside the house, and finding her husband dying in a pool of blood on the carpet.

Her hands folded in her lap, she spoke slowly and distinctly. Several times, her voice came close to cracking. But otherwise, she showed no signs of emotion.

Beckwith, a Citizens Council member with a reputation as an outspoken segregationist, listened intently to the testimony from his seat at the defense table.

Slouched

Sometimes erect, sometimes slouched over with his elbow on the table and his chin on his fist, Beckwith wore a dark blue suit and a dark necktie. He occasionally scribbled notes in a black ringbinder notebook.

He nodded to an acquaintance among the spectators from time to time—but now soberly, without the smile he flashed during the four days of jury selection.

A few feet away, Beckwith's wife sat on the front row of spectators in a section reserved for officers of the court. She wore a fur stole and a red dress.

No Storm

When she made her first appearance at the trial Thursday, Beckwith greeted her with kisses. They showed no signs of the storm in their marriage. They have been divorced and remarried twice.

He said he watches the opinion polls with as much interest as anyone. He has been high on their list of possible second place candidates.

Who's Better

Asked about some of the other names mentioned, he said the attorney general, brother of the late president, "would be terrific. After all, who's got a better record? He's obviously got all the qualifications."

He also mentioned Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn.

Would he run if Johnson asked him?

"I think I ought to tell him that if I am asked," Shriver said. "I don't worry about it. I don't think I'm the guy who's going to get asked."

He said nobody but the President could make the decision.

. . . U.S. WANTED CONTINUITY

Saigon, Viet Nam (P)—Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh announced Friday that Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh, popular chief of the junta he overthrew, has agreed to become adviser to the new 35-man military council.

The United States, which is pouring both economic and military aid into this Communist-ruled nation, had made clear it wanted at least some continuity between the successive governments.

Khanh told a news conference the members of his 35-man council tried all day Thursday, the day of the coup, to persuade Minh to join them, but that he consented only to become an adviser.

Feelings

"He put too much stress on his own feelings," Khanh said.

The new strongman, who was an army corps commander when he engineered the coup, once served under Minh in a military staff job. Khanh is 37; Minh 47. Both are Buddhists, the dominant religion of South Viet Nam.

Khanh promised the Vietnamese people a government of national union made up of representatives from all walks of life. But he warned that he will have to "apply a number of temporary measures aimed at effectively safeguarding public order."

The warning evidently meant that Khanh and the generals and colonels he named to the council are in no hurry to surrender power to civilian authority.

Four members of the old junta who were arrested Thursday are alive and "in a secure place," Khanh said. He promised them a fair trial.

Three are major generals accused of conspiring with France to neutralize South Viet Nam in line with a program advocated by President Charles de Gaulle to promote nonalignment across Southeast Asia.

They are former defense minister Tran Van Don; the military chief of staff, Le Van Kim; and the Saigon police chief, Mai Huu Xuan.

Unannounced

The fourth man is Maj. Gen. Ton That Dinh, former interior minister. He faces unannounced charges for his activities under the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem, who was deposed and killed last November.

Radio Peking broadcast a declaration by Communist North Viet Nam that "contradictions between U.S. imperialism and its lackeys" led to the coup. It said the coup created more favorable conditions for Communist victories in South Viet Nam's civil war.

Qualified American sources said there was no increase in guerrilla operations. As in the period immediately after Diem's downfall, Red field units evidently were not geared to step up their operations quickly to take advantage of the confusion in Saigon.

CHURCH EDUCATIONAL BUILDING DEDICATED

Dedication services were held at Schuyler for the new Memorial Educational Building of the United Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Robert S. Moorhead of Hastings, field director of Christian Education for the United Presbyterian Synod of Nebraska, and Dr. George S. Bancroft of Omaha, the Synod executive, were speakers at services. Adjoining the church structure, the new building contains department rooms for the entire church school and a church office and a pastor's study. The Rev. David A. Cunningham has served the church as pastor since 1959.

Without congressional approval of a new wheat program, a grower could count on no more than about $1.25 a bushel. Under current farm law, supports must be put at this lower figure because growers rejected mandatory controls at a referendum last May. The 1963 crop support is $1.82.

LBJ Wheat Program Same As House Bill

Washington (AP)—A new wheat program recommended by President Johnson in a special farm message Friday is fully covered by a bill approved recently by a House Agriculture Subcommittee.

It would be voluntary in nature—that is, farmers would be free to plant within or above government acreage allotments. But growers who abided by allotments would get marketing certificates for a large portion of their production. These would have a monetary value additional to the market value of the wheat.

Mills using wheat for domestic food purposes would have to buy certificates to cover every bushel of wheat they used. The pending bill would put a price of 70 cents a bushel on these certificates. It also would set a price support under wheat at self of $1.30 a bushel. Thus, a co-operating farmer would be assured of a total of at least $2 a bushel on his portion of the crop earmarked by the certificates for domestic food use.

Without congressional approval of a new wheat program, a grower could count on no more than about $1.25 a bushel. Under current farm law, supports must be put at this lower figure because growers rejected mandatory controls at a referendum last May. The 1963 crop support is $1.82.

The pending bill also would issue additional certificates to co-operating farmers for their allotted share of wheat designed for export. These certificates would have a value of 25 cents a bushel in addition to the $1.30 support for wheat. Exporters would have to buy these certificates.

In urging speedy action on wheat legislation, the President said growers will receive $500 million to $700 million less for this year's crop than last year's if a new program is not authorized.

Brilliant Performances Mark Opening Of Play

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

William Inge's outstanding drama, "Come Back Little Sheba," brought out the talents of two brilliant performers as they played the challenging lead roles in the opening performance Friday night at the Lincoln Community Playhouse.

Jan Henley, who received the best actress award for her part in "Miracle Worker" last year, displayed an unusual dramatic talent in the difficult part of the wife, Lola, who is able to make only a weak effort in helping her alcoholic husband.

Unable to forget the past which offered so much but materialized into so little, she lives as a wistful spectator of the world around her with the hope that her little dog Sheba, will someday return.

Returning to the stage as an alcoholic for the second time this season, Jack Frost displayed a superb performance in portraying the husband, Doc, who is afraid to face the reality of a drug, successful life.

The young college girl, Marie, played by Gail Ginsburg, goes blithely on her way unaware of the havoc she creates while boarding with Doc and Lola.

Completing the delightful cast which reminds the audience of the many people who go through life calling, "Come back, little Sheba," are:

Richard Spicer as Turk, and Richard Mulligan, as Bruce, Marie's boyfriends; Pat Loetterle as Mrs. Coffman, a neighbor; Clair Rickel, the postman; Pat Healey, the milkman, and William Gilliland and Harvey Gath, members of Alcoholics Anonymous.

The play, which guarantees to delight its audiences, will run Saturday and Tuesday through Sunday next week.

Lincoln Store Sales Show 14% Increase

Kansas City (AP)—Department store sales in the Tenth Federal District were 12% higher last week than in the same week of 1963. For the first four weeks of the year, they are also 12% ahead, whereas the national average is 8%.

District cities showing gains last week included Lincoln 14 and Omaha 21.

SAC Expected To Declare 3 Omaha Missile Sites Excess

Omaha (AP)—The Strategic Air Command reported Friday it probably will declare three Omaha area missile sites excess.

The three are launching bases for early model Atlas missiles at Mead and Arlington, Neb., and Missouri Valley, Iowa. The missiles are stored in aboveground concrete "coffins" from which they can be raised to be fired. There are three at each site, a total of nine.

The Defense Department announced previously these early model liquid fuel missiles are among those to be phased out in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

"The need for these slow reacting and more highly vulnerable older missiles is declining," Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara explained.

A SAC spokesman said that if the three bases are tagged as excess, Air Force headquarters and the federal government will determine their usefulness to other federal agencies.

If there is no requirement for the land, it will be disposed of by the General Services Agency.

The Air Force said the three Omaha-area sites average about 285 acres each. The value of the land and buildings at each averages $3.3 million, a spokesman said.

It was announced earlier that Offutt Air Force Base manpower would be reduced by 933 military personnel and 13 civilians as a result of the elimination of the Atlas squadrons.

SAC spokesmen explained that the Atlas sites are completely inadequate for newer ICBMs. Later missiles are stored in underground silos where they are protected from enemy missiles.

Ft. Kearny Park Development On Schedule

Alinden (AP)—Development of old Ft. Kearny as a state historical park is right on schedule and will continue that way, a state official reports.

Robert Killen of the Game, Forestation and Parks Commission told the Fort Kearny Preservation, Restoration and Development Board that mild weather has been an aid to work this winter.

A service building is nearing completion and plans call for an interpretive center and museum to be completed by Nebraska's Centennial year, Killen said.

University of Nebraska archaeologists will dig this summer at the site of a blacksmith shop in search for items of historical interest.

Killen reported that a campground will open this summer on a 40-acre site a mile east and three-quarters of a mile north of the fort. It will include full camping facilities including restrooms and water.

Fort Kearny Historical Park is not far from an interstate 80 interchange southeast of the city of Kearney. Reconstruction of the old stockade has been completed on the original earthworks.

Dr. Lyle Mantor of the Kearney State College history department is chairman of the restoration and development board.

Train Slices Bus In Half; 22 Killed

Parana, Argentina (AP)—Police said a bus turned from a tree-lined road to cross a railroad track and was sliced in half by a diesel train. They said 22 persons died and 12 were injured, eight seriously.

The collision occurred 10 miles from Parana, a port city 280 miles northwest of Buenos Aires.

Officers said the railway crossing had no barrier.

Playing With Taxes

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The most correct analysis of Nebraska's tax situation was presented before the Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers by Richard Brown, executive secretary of the Nebraska State School Board Association. In contrast to two other speakers, Mr. Brown suggested that the state constitution was no place to be specifically fixing the tax structure of the state. He properly suggested that the constitution, rather, should simply provide the Legislature with broad taxing authority.

This was not the reasoning behind remarks made by former State Sen. Herbert

Replacement Provision

Duis and Frank Heinisch, Omaha Education Association official. The name of Mr. Duis should ring a bell with most people since it is this name by which a certain tax amendment to the constitution is known. This amendment specifies that if the state enacts either a sales and/or income tax, such shall be a replacement of the property tax. Thus, to change its tax base in any substantial manner, the state would have to get out of the property tax field. Mr. Duis defended the amendment on the grounds that Nebraska at the time were completely opposed to any new tax unless it was a replacement.

Mr. Heinisch has a proposal with merit, despite the fact that it is a questionable way of doing things. He wants the state to apply a sales or income tax, with all revenue going to local school districts to replace local property tax levies. This would broaden the tax base some but it is loaded with drawbacks.

The plan would not conflict with but would completely replace the Duis amendment. In doing so, it would saddle the state government with a tax levy for which it would receive no benefit. While it would be in error, this could make it difficult for the state to secure public support for programs beyond education that it felt were essential.

Beyond this, the plan is more tampering with the state constitution to provide a specific tax for a specific purpose. What happens in 10 or 20 years when the circumstances that dictate what we want today have changed and something else is in demand? We cannot then rely upon the Legislature to take care of changing times with changes in the law but would have to find our recourse in further amendment of the constitution by statewide vote. This is a cumbersome, time-consuming, inefficient and illogical manner of doing things. It is, in the most important area of taxation, to do away with the legislative branch of government to which we normally look for provision of the law we need. One doesn't need to be a student of government to see the folly of this. It is a knot-tying proposition to which no intelligent person should subscribe.

Why, then, does it have any merit? It is unfortunate but it has merit in the fact that it represents one practical way of getting something done. This brings us directly to Mr. Duis and his defense of the amendment which bears his name. His defense is, first of all, a matter of opinion with which we are in total disagreement. Correct again is Mr. Brown when he states that the Duis amendment has "barred from serious consideration on the part of the Legislature the subject of broadening the tax base."

Rather than an incentive for broadening the tax base, as it was intended originally by many of its supporters, the Duis amendment has become a bar to any such broadening. It has served as a bar because it has prohibited the state from entering the sales or income tax field with anything but a giant bang.

It has meant that the state could not use either the sales or income tax as a supplemental tax to relieve the property tax. The sales or income tax under the Duis amendment must be an all-or-nothing proposition, making it all the more difficult to adopt either alternative in the face of varied political and economic differences.

The Duis amendment, also, has come to center debate on the amount rather than the kind of tax system we have. It has confused these two subjects, too, to the point where most people are seldom aware of which one really is at issue. The Duis amendment has tended to establish a false impression of excessive taxation in Nebraska when the state is actually one of the lowest in per capita taxation. But the Duis amendment is on the books and you can't ignore this. It is believed that the amendment proposed by Heinisch would be a substantial improvement over the Duis amendment.

The allocation of a sales or income tax back to the local school district would serve to broaden the tax base. It would provide a little more elbow room for those governmental units that are forced to rely almost solely upon the property tax by taking some of the load of educational support off the property tax. Thus, in comparison with the Duis amendment, the Heinisch proposal is at least the lesser of two evils.

No Funds Denied

War veterans were unduly concerned when they learned that the President's budget foresaw a reduction of more than $400 million in 1965 for veterans benefits.

There is confusion here between appropriating and spending. The incoming demands for veterans benefits appear to be the usual and normal. If less money is listed in the budget it refers to the amount of new appropriation and suggests that any reduction will be made up by other forms of Veterans Administration income. That is what is happening.

The Veterans Administration is divesting itself of G.I. mortgages and expects to sell something like $700 million of them to private investors. The proceeds will go into the operation of the department.

This is greatly similar to the liquidation of the assets of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation during the Eisenhower years. The RFC had largely outlived its usefulness as a long risk bank for depression battered enterprises. Its function was being transferred to the General Services Administration. Its assets were liquidated. Some believed that the proceeds should have gone to reduce the national debt. But the administration diverted the money into its operating budget.

It is a hairline argument, a case of deciding where the money will do the most good. But it should not be confused with economy.

Abounding Good Will

The winter Olympic games at Innsbruck, Austria, are off to the friendliest sort of starts.

Even the Russians who have made it a practice to keep to themselves in the past are conducting open house. They are speaking spontaneously and enjoying their new camaraderie. We may add that they are doing quite well, thank you, in the competitive events, too.

The outgoing, outspoken Russian is a new figure, not found yet in diplomacy, or business, but perhaps destined to appear there in due time.

Certainly sport is a field in which one can first expect to find such. It is non-political. Socialists are just as capable of breaking records as capitalists. It is a matter of being physically favored by birth and then working hard at it under good coaching.

Thwarted Expectations

From The Christian Science Monitor

Revolutionary situations are born of a widening gap between expectation and attainment. That—and not the machinations of Peking, Moscow, or Havana—explains the trouble in so many parts of black Africa at the present time. Poverty and lack of development are facts in Africa, no matter what the cause. So long as territories were under alien rule, it was easy and natural to blame all the hardships of the daily round on the humiliating presence of the white colonial power from Europe. It was equally easy to assume that once that presence was withdrawn, the sun would rise the next morning on an African Utopia.

The African political leaders who inherited sovereignty from the departing Europeans were not always so naive. President Nyerere of Tanganyika, for example, made "Freedom and Work"—not simply "Freedom"—the slogan under which his country got its independence. But the mass of the population, particularly the younger generation in the cities, rarely understood the frailty and the limitations of what was being transferred to African hands.

Because of that frailty, African politicians presiding over their countries' new independence have found it all the harder to meet demands from the urban proletariat for what seemed to the latter the proper spoils of infant nationhood. They rarely had a firmly based and efficient administrative machine.

In many new African countries, the army (and sometimes the trade unions) is one of the few cohesive groups which can become the focus of discontent with the civilian politicians in the seats of power. The discontent is all the greater when white officers remain, at the request of the black civilian politicians, in senior military appointments and apparently block the road to African promotions. Last week's events in Tanganyika, Kenya, and Uganda revealed how explosive are the frustrations that can result.

Friend Believes Baker Is Broke

Editor's note—Drew Pearson's column today is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.

WASHINGTON—Senate investigators summoned Fred Black, the soft-spoken lobbyist for North American Aviation, behind closed doors the other day to ask what he knows of Bobby Baker's alleged association with gamblers and call girls.

Black acknowledged that he and Baker had participated in business ventures with gamblers Ed Levinson and Ted Torres of Las Vegas, and Benny Sigelbaum of Miami, also that an alleged labor racketeer, Mike Singer, is on the payroll of Serv-U, a vending machine company in which they own a big stake.

Black also suggested that the wheeling-and-dealing Bobby Baker, now out of a job and out of influence, is broke.

"I have loaned him small amounts to eat on since this thing broke, about $1,000," Black confided. "I think he is broke. I feel real sorry for him."

The lobbyist testified that George Simon of Miami, chief accountant for the international hotel chain, put up $80,000 to start Serv-U, and that Levinson, Torres, and Sigelbaum had invested by personal check.

"This is a clean deal," Black insisted. "There is nothing in there except clean money."

"Did you have anything to do with getting Levinson, Sigelbaum, and Torres into the deal?" demanded Lennox McLendon, the crack-barrel special counsel, who is running the Bobby Baker investigation for the Senate Rules Committee.

"No, I guess Simon got them in," said Black. "Did you know that these people were gamblers and racketeers?" rasped McLendon.

"I go along as far as Levinson is concerned with gambling, but he is far from being a racketeer," retorted Black. "He has quite an interesting background," suggested McLendon.

The paunchy, pleasant lobbyist also told how he had borrowed $175,000 from the Fidelity National Bank, controlled by the late Sen. Robert Kerr, D-Okla., to buy 6,000 shares of the Farmers and Merchants Bank. He has passed out 1,600 shares apiece to Levinson and Sigelbaum, is still holding 1,600 shares for Baker.

"How did all this come about?" demanded McLendon. "If you want to bring a dead man into this," said Black, "Bob Kerr made the loan possible. He thought this was a good deal and suggested I buy the stock."

ON TARGET

By DON WALTON

What is the meaning of Richard Nixon's straw vote victory over Barry Goldwater in balloting at a Republican dinner rally in Lincoln this week?

Does it mean that Goldwater's strength in Nebraska is waning?

Does it indicate that the state's election national representatives and party officials are out of step with the rank-and-file party member?

We put those questions to a number of highly skilled Republican political observers in the wake of the straw vote result—which, quite frankly, surprised the heck out of us. Promising that there would be no attribution of their remarks, we gathered some interesting answers.

First and foremost, it should be noted that a majority of those with whom we talked believe the Nixon victory indicated no loss of support for Goldwater.

They say they were not surprised by the results of the poll, suggesting that it displayed once again the more liberal—or less conservative—philosophy of Lincoln Republicans as distinguished from the rest of the state.

In Omaha or outstate, Goldwater would have won. He will pile up a large presidential primary victory in May, and win Nebraska's votes at the national convention.

Nixon has always been popular in Lincoln. It was here that he attracted an amazing mob of 8,000 cheering fans to the University of Nebraska coliseum in 1960. And, of course, he piled up his largest state triumph in Nebraska against the late President Kennedy.

Another factor which our observers mentioned was Nixon's television performance prior to the straw vote balloting Wednesday night. He easily stole the show from Goldwater, and all the other speakers. By comparison that night, he looked best of all.

"He said the things that needed to be said," one of our confidants pointed out. "Nixon made the speech that counted," another said. One observer thought the Lincoln audience was largely composed of persons who have not yet made up their minds, and that they voted on the basis of the TV performances.

"The hard-core Republicans, who are true conservatives, have made up their mind," he suggested, "and they want Goldwater." Thus, the straw poll should be viewed properly as "a sampling of Lincoln, not a sampling of Nebraska," he said.

That's the majority viewpoint. The minority saw things a little differently. "Perhaps Nixon had the support all along," one pointed out, allowing that he was "dumbfounded" by the poll's results. He thought Goldwater was a clench.

Another pointed out that while the audience may have been predominantly Lincolnite, it did contain representatives from perhaps half of Nebraska's 93 counties, including county leaders and prototype party workers. Thus, the straw vote could not be completely written off as an expression of Lincoln Republicans only.

The minority viewpoint was that Goldwater's strength in Nebraska may need a new assessment. They weren't sure, but it just might be waning. If it is, one suggested, the key party leaders who have already endorsed Goldwater could be out on a limb. That's how the skilled party pros saw it. The consensus says to keep your money on the senator from Arizona. In Nebraska, that is.

It looks like there may be big money in sour lemon drops, cherry candy, lifesavers and Dentyne gum.

At least, that's the way it looks around our office—a place lately populated by strange people with gaunt expressions, who jump when you say "hello" and answer like a cheerleader.

'The Hawaii Case'
Lincoln, Neb.

So now The Lincoln Star favors agrarian reform in Hawaii (Jan. 29) and, of course, the use of anti-trust laws to break up some of the corporations.

You disguise these proposed acts of thievery under the alluring name of a "democratized economy" but all it amounts to, in effect, is the use of government force to take property from men who have earned it in the market place and bestow it upon men who have not earned it.

If your real concern was the breaking up of so-called "monopolies" and large land holdings, I would suggest you begin by breaking up the largest existent monopolist and land-owner, the federal government. But, of course, your purpose is not this, at all. Rather, it is to despoil men of their honestly acquired property and to do so with the ruthlessness of a Mongolian looter.

The Hawaiian corporations have become very successful and you want to step in and rob them of their wealth and give it to other men, and with no other justification than your demagogic altruistic ethic, the idea that some men ought to be forced to live and provide for others.

Yours in the philosophy of what Mencken called the "boob-o-cie" or what might be called "mobocracy." You are the ones who are helping take democracy to the extremes feared by Jefferson, Burke, Lincoln and Tocqueville. Democracy, to you, consists of turning men into looters and plunderers, in seeing who can get to their congressman first in order to deprive their neighbor of some property right. Yours is the philosophy of gang warfare, and whoever has the biggest gang wins control over others. And while you audaciously call yourself "liberal," I maintain you are only "licentious" and ask you just what you are "liberal" about, besides other men's property?

Greater still is seeing our children's freedoms. Let us give thanks that each day they can go forth without fear and that the good life is theirs.

If one will only look beyond the kitchen window, there is such a wonderful world of beauty and hope to be seen.

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The most correct analysis of Nebraska's tax situation was presented before the Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers by Richard Brown, executive secretary of the Nebraska State School Board Association. In contrast to two other speakers, Mr. Brown suggested that the state constitution was no place to be specifically fixing the tax structure of the state. He properly suggested that the constitution, rather, should simply provide the Legislature with broad taxing authority.

This was not the reasoning behind remarks made by former State Sen. Herbert

Replacement Provision

Duis and Frank Heinisch, Omaha Education Association official. The name of Mr. Duis should ring a bell with most people since it is this name by which a certain tax amendment to the constitution is known. This amendment specifies that if the state enacts either a sales and/or income tax, such shall be a replacement of the property tax. Thus, to change its tax base in any substantial manner, the state would have to get out of the property tax field. Mr. Duis defended the amendment on the grounds that Nebraskans at the time were completely opposed to any new tax unless it was a replacement.

Mr. Heinisch has a proposal with merit, despite the fact that it is a questionable way of doing things. He wants the state to apply a sales or income tax, with all revenue going to local school districts to replace local property tax levies. This would broaden the tax base some but it is loaded with drawbacks.

The plan would not conflict with but would completely replace the Duis amendment. In doing so, it would saddle the state government with a tax levy for which it would receive no benefit. While it would be in error, this could make it difficult for the state to secure public support for programs beyond education that it felt were essential.

Beyond this, the plan is more tampering with the state constitution to provide a specific tax for a specific purpose. What happens in 10 or 20 years when the circumstances that dictate what we want today have changed and something else is in demand? We cannot then rely upon the Legislature to take care of changing times with changes in the law but would have to find our recourse in further amendment of the constitution by statewide vote. This is a cumbersome, time-consuming, inefficient and illogical manner of doing things. It is, in the most important area of taxation, to do away with the legislative branch of government to which we normally look for provision of the law we need. One doesn't need to be a student of government to see the folly of this. It is a knot-tying proposition to which no intelligent person should subscribe.

Why, then, does it have any merit? It is unfortunate but it has merit in the fact that it represents one practical way of getting something done. This brings us directly to Mr. Duis and his defense of the amendment which bears his name. His defense is, first of all, a matter of opinion with which we are in total disagreement. Correct again is Mr. Brown when he states that the Duis amendment has "barred from serious consideration on the part of the Legislature the subject of broadening the tax base."

Rather than an incentive for broadening the tax base, as it was intended originally by many of its supporters, the Duis amendment has become a bar to any such broadening. It has served as a bar because it has prohibited the state from entering the sales or income tax field with anything but a giant bang.

The sales or income tax under the Duis amendment must be an all-or-nothing proposition, making it all the more difficult to adopt either alternative in the face of varied political and economic differences.

seldom aware of which one really is at issue. DORIS FLEESON

Rockefeller Keys On The Urban Vote

LOS ANGELES—Gov. Nelson Rockefeller is campaigning here on two levels in the best manner of President Johnson, to whom he is probably closer in outlook than either man would care to admit.

With businessmen and strictly Republican audiences, the governor rings the fiscal-responsibility bell. When before a more general audience or a minority group, he puts first his social aims and abiding interest in the world affairs.

Like the President again, Rockefeller does not allow any one interest to stand alone; he only redistributes the emphasis. Businessmen, softened up by tribute to their legends, are warned that social needs must be met out of tax revenues. Whatever the audience, it gets some kind words for fiscal integrity and economy.

One banner he keeps firmly aloft: civil rights. This has put him in conflict with some conservative forces here which seek repeal of an antidiscrimination housing act. It also accepts the risk of alarming a suburban vote, which some politicians believe opposes integrated housing.

With people Rockefeller has regained some of the warmth and folksiness which attracted the sidewalk vote in his first campaign for governor. He is ably seconded by Mrs. Rockefeller. Here at least, much kindness mixes with curiosity about her.

Whether Republicans, who after all do the nominating of their candidates for president, are ready to accept the inevitability of some form of me-too-ism in national politics is their secret until mid-July. They did not seem wildly enthusiastic about it at the $100-a-plate dinners which launched their 1964 effort.

The necessity of catering to the Republican mystique even dampened Rockefeller, who has been ebullient throughout long California days. As seen here on TV, all the presidential candidates seemed singularly uninspired and humorless.

The final impression of the Rockefeller California tour is like the first. He has cast the die in favor of what he conceives to be the political interests of the big states and the 85 per cent of Americans who now cope with the complexities of city living. Like the late President Kennedy, this strikes him as the pragmatic approach to national elections. He suffers from no nostalgia for simpler times, and it is not offensive to his principles.

His preconvention problem is that of not straying too far from what supporters of Sen. Barry Goldwater proclaim as traditional Republican principles. It would not please Rockefeller, who wants what he wants when he wants it, to be merely a sacrificial lamb in an effort to modernize his party.

He wants to be the man who runs against Lyndon Johnson in 1964, and he is confident that he is ready for the race. After all, his aides point out, Rockefeller has twice won handily in the biggest state and the President's appeal at the head of a ticket has never been tested outside of Texas.

So now The Lincoln Star favors agrarian reform in Hawaii (Jan. 29) and, of course, the use of anti-trust laws to break up some of the corporations.

You disguise these proposed acts of thievery under the alluring name of a "democratized economy" but all it amounts to, in effect, is the use of government force to take property from men who have earned it in the market place and bestow it upon men who have not earned it.

If your real concern was the breaking up of so-called "monopolies" and large land holdings, I would suggest you begin by breaking up the largest existent monopolist and land-owner, the federal government. But, of course, your purpose is not this, at all. Rather, it is to despoil men of their honestly acquired property and to do so with the ruthlessness of a Mongolian looter.

The Hawaiian corporations have become very successful and you want to step in and rob them of their wealth and give it to other men, and with no other justification than your demagogical altruistic ethic, the idea that some men ought to be forced to live and provide for others.

Yours in the philosophy of what Mencken called the "boob-eisic" or what might be called "mobocracy." You are the ones who are helping take democracy to the extremes feared by Jefferson, Burke, Lincoln and Tocqueville. Democracy, to you, consists of turning men into looters and plunderers, in seeing who can get to their congressman first in order to deprive their neighbor of some property right. Yours is the philosophy of gang warfare, and whoever has the biggest gang wins control over others. And while you audaciously call yourself "liberal," I maintain you are only "licentious" and ask you just what you are "liberal" about, besides other men's property?

Northeast Diagonal Lincoln, Neb.

Reading that the proposed Northeast Diagonal be elevated from 19th and R to near 19th and Holdrege brings back memories of my youth. In those days the favorite gimmick to tease youngsters was to send them after a left-handed monkey wrench or some sky hooks.

I would suggest that we send our city engineers and those proposing an elevated portion of the diagonal to some other state to borrow some sky hooks. Perhaps before they get back, someone will come up with a more economical and sensible idea for solving the traffic problem in northeast Lincoln. Due to the rapid expansion, there is less and less need for the Northeast Radial.

The only question should be whether or not Lincoln needs this project. The main benefactors would be one of Lincoln's leading contractors and investment companies. These companies have grown tremendously in assets, yet they contribute nothing toward the betterment of this city.

Picture Of Beauty

Lincoln, Neb.

Outside my window, the wide driveway meets the spacious, neatly clipped empty lot. A grove of trees is silhouetted against the bright blue sky. Along the side lot, stark lilac bushes entwined as if seeking comfort, perhaps in wistful waiting for summer's coming. Beneath these, brittle brown leaves rest from a frolic with gusty, playful winds.

The sun is so bright that one feels it is a warm spring day. But with a sudden rush of children on their way to school, their frosty breaths belie that hope.

Some of the youngsters race away in their bright winter wraps. Others dawdle along, some skip about in their happiness. What a beautiful window picture it all makes, representing the resting of growing things waiting to come forth in fruit or blossoms, lawns or leafy boughs. Greater still is seeing our children's freedoms. Let us give thanks that each day they can go forth without fear and that the good life is theirs.

If one will only look beyond the kitchen window, there is such a wonderful world of beauty and hope to be seen.

By What Right?

Lincoln, Neb.

The question recently arose as to whether an individual had any right to go into the wilderness and build a cabin of his own.

What right did the Pilgrims have to build cabins—or any settlers in a new land, for that matter?

Where is the line to be drawn to have the right to be six feet tall? To be wealthy, to be poor, to be healthy, to be ailing, to be a millionaire, or to inherit a fortune?

Hard Climb

Lincoln, Neb.

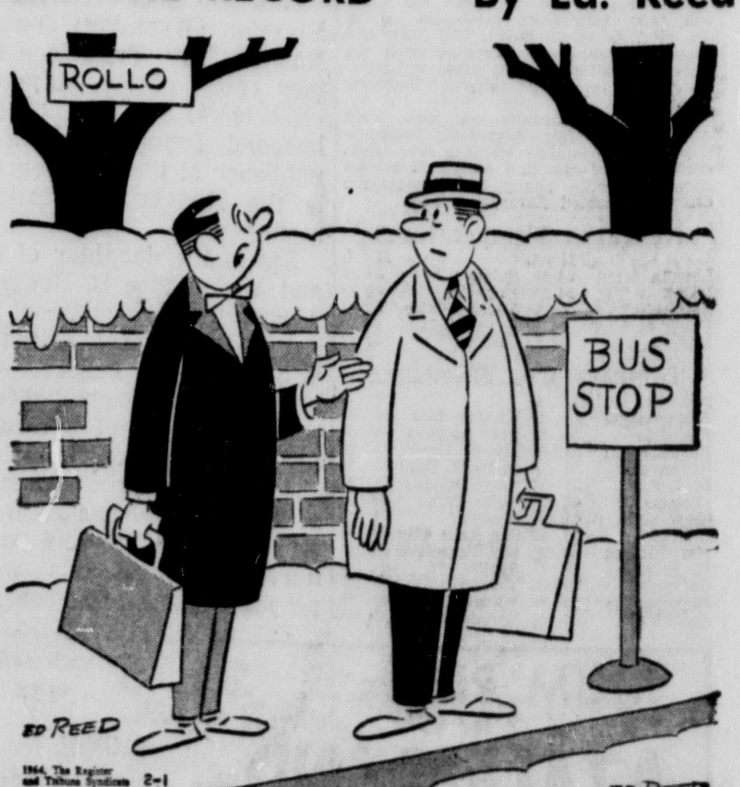

Just a line in regard to those who have to discuss old age assistance matters. The offices are located on N Street, and it seems a shame that the old people have to climb all those stairs.

City officials should look into this matter. I think it is important.

Golden Years No Time To Take Up New Sport

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. "It is difficult to believe, but my wife has taken up skiing at 54 and does pretty well at it. She's trying to interest me but, at 62, I'm scared to death of the slippery sticks. Do you blame me for hesitating?"

A. No—skiing is dangerous for the average person past 40. Unless one has developed skiing skill as a youngster or is unusually well-coordinated he has no business fooling around on skis. Bone fractures take months to heal when you're along in years and it's a wise elder who knows his sporting limitations.

Q. "I'm 58 and can afford to retire from my job as an insurance broker. I've always thought I'd like to go into the ministry. Would I be foolish to consider it at my age?"

A. Not if you've got a real enthusiasm for it. The seminaries of most denominations these days welcome men who have retired early from other professions. The studies won't be easy and you'll probably have to complete your college education if you haven't already done so. But if you're determined and zealous you can doubtless qualify for the ministry and what may conceivably prove to be the most satisfying career of your life.

Q. "I'm 62 and would like to supplement my income by learning to write fiction. What do you think of my chances?"

A. Pretty slim. The writing field is overrun with professionals, and unless amateurs are unusually gifted they don't stand much chance of selling their output. Why not experiment and see if any publishers will use your material for free before aspiring to write for pay.

Q. "How can retired people supplement their incomes if no one will give them a job?"

A. They can (a) start home businesses, such as making furniture or breeding poodles, (b) they can go into direct selling on a commission basis, or (c) they can start small businesses, such as guest houses or coffee shops.

Q. "I'm a retired postal clerk and would like to start a mail order service. What do you think of my chances?"

A. Not very bright. The mail order business is now so highly developed by professionals with plenty of financing and know-how that it's extremely difficult for a newcomer with limited means and experience to compete with them. However, if you find an item that is unusual, useful, and not readily available at stores there's always the chance that you can succeed in marketing it—if not by mail then through retail stores.

If you would like a booklet "33 Ways to Make Money at Home," write to this column c/o The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

Reds Cut Military Costs In Hungary

Budapest (AP)—Lajos Czinege, defense minister of Communist-ruled Hungary, announced a $40 million cut in military expenditures.

Speaking on the opening day of the Hungarian Parliament's session, Czinege said the cut would not affect "the readiness and strength of the Hungarian army."

Czinege also announced the minimum military age was lowered from 19 to 18.

... AGGRESSION CHARGE NIXED

Washington (AP)—The United States rejected Friday Panama's charges of aggression and invited a full investigation of the recent disturbances in Panama by any inter-American agency.

Ellsworth Bunker, new U.S. ambassador to the Organization of American States, told the OAS's council of foreign ministers, "There is no basis in fact" for Panama's accusation against the United States.

An inquiry, he said, would show the government of Panama was "inciting the people to attack and to violence."

The OAS council, after hearing both Bunker and Miguel Moreno of Panama, recessed until Tuesday.

'Reds Aided Mobs'

Mobs "infiltrated and led by extremists, including persons trained in Communist countries" assaulted the U.S.-controlled Panama Canal Zone on a wide perimeter, Bunker told the meeting.

He said U.S. forces "never attempted to enter Panama but acted only to protect the lives and property of its citizens" and "no small portion of the Panamanian casualties were caused by Panamanians themselves."

Representatives of the Dominican Republic and Mexico suggested the council meet again Monday, but Chile's OAS ambassador, Manuel Trucco, said "there should be a little more time to consider more deeply the charges" brought by Panama.

'Moment of Injustice'

Moreno, speaking in Spanish, appealed to Latin American nations to stand by Panama "in this moment of injustice."

"By using force to silence the Panamanian people, the United States has violated the inter-American treaty of mutual assistance," he said.

"Panama's cause is the cause of all the Americas."

"Will you let Panama stand alone at this moment?"

Taiwan Admiral Denies 'Absurd' Rumors Of Coup

Taipei, Formosa (AP)—A spokesman for the Chinese Nationalist defense ministry denied Friday what he called a "very absurd" rumor of an attempted coup in Formosa.

Rear Adm. Pei Yu-feng said the rumor probably started Jan. 21 at Taichung, 93 miles south of Taipei, when a Nationalist officer "made a ridiculous speech while inspecting equipment and was arrested."

Pei declined to identify the officer or relate his remarks. He said the officer was disgruntled with the government over its recent cool relations with Japan and France's then-planned recognition of Red China, announced Monday.

Bunker said several courses appeared open, one of which should certainly be explored "before seeking or implying any judgement" on Panama's accusation.

He said the Inter-American Peace Committee, which had the case under study from Jan. 10 until Thursday, would make an appropriate group for the inquiry. Or the study could be a joint inquiry with representatives of both nations under chairmanship of a representative of the OAS, Bunker suggested.

GOVERNORS PLAN MIDWEST CONFERENCE

Morrison of Nebraska, Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois, and Gov. John Anderson of Kansas. Gov. Anderson is chairman of the National Governors' Association.

College Bull Session Led To Sit-Ins By Negroes

EDITOR'S NOTE: Four young Negroes staged what is believed to be the first sit-in protest in Lincoln on Feb. 1, 1964, at a Greensboro, N.C., variety store. This dispatch tells what these four young men are doing today.

By AMBROSE B. DUDLEY
Greensboro, N.C. (AP)—A freshman walked into his dormitory room at North Carolina A&T College four years ago and asked, "What can we do?"

Joseph McNeill, a Negro, answered his own question: "Let's have a boycott. We should go in and ask to be served and sit there until they do."

This conversation, sparked by earlier discussions, ignited an idea that quickly spread over the South and the nation—the sit-in demonstration to protest racial segregation.

When McNeill made the remark to his college roommate, Ezell Blair Jr., he had just returned from the downtown bus station and an unsuccessful effort to "get something to eat."

The next day, Feb. 1, 1960, McNeill, Blair, David Richmond and Franklin McCain, then all students at the Negro college in Greensboro, went to a downtown variety store (F. W. Woolworth). They were refused food service, but they stayed quietly at the table.

By The 4th Day

They returned each day and by the fourth day they were joined by students from Bennett College (Negro) and a few students from predominantly all-white Woman's College in Greensboro.

Blair, now a law student at Howard University in Washington, is enthusiastic about results of the sit-ins in the last four years.

"I think the sit-in has had a very good effect on the common and community goals we have sought," he said. "However, I believe unless something is done, unless the civil rights bill is passed, the present methods may lose their effectiveness."

"I see the sit-ins as a forerunner of all the movements that are in progress now," McCain said. The 23-year-old senior at A&T College is majoring in zoology.

"Not to say that the other movements would have taken place, but I do think the sit-in movement has made significant strides," he said.

McNeill doesn't think each section of the country should use the sit-in technique as such. He would mix sit-ins with other methods.

Blair said future methods will be more disobedient to civil law.

Lie-Ins

"If the civil rights bill is not passed, we will have lie-ins at airports and railroad stations. You know, lie on the runways and across the tracks."

He said this would be the extreme form of disobedience and Negroes do not want to use it unless "we are in a community where the whites just refuse to listen to our demands."

Blair said sit-in demonstrations were effective at first because police and the white people were not prepared. Now, he said, sit-ins have lost their dramatic effect.

"Many of our opponents do not pay any attention to the demonstrations now and they do not bring about the speedy results that we would like to see," Blair added.

"That is why in a nonviolent movement we are always talking about changing our methods. We have to find new nonviolent methods," he said.

Member of NAG

Blair, who entered Howard in September, is a member of NAG (Nonviolent Action Group) and the Law Students Civil Rights Research Council.

McNeill is now stationed with the Air Force in Texas and Richmond works at a textile mill in Greensboro.

McNeill said what pleased him about starting the sit-in movement against racial discrimination was that "the idea was novel in itself. But I am rueful of the fact that they (the Negroes) weren't using sit-ins 75 years ago. I could be looking at them in the history book now."

Inmates' Freedom Lasts Only Briefly

Two reformatory inmates who walked away from a work detail Friday afternoon enjoyed only a brief taste of freedom until they were arrested in Omaha in a car stolen from Lincoln early that evening.

The escapees were identified as Dennis Fitzgerald, 20, of Omaha, and Richard Levey, 18, of North Platte. Both had been sentenced to the reformatory for one to three years upon conviction of burglary and car theft charges. Capt. Robert Sawdon said the two were arrested by the Omaha Police Department and would be held by them to be returned to Lincoln Saturday.

Pathet Lao Troops Defeat Neutralists

Vientiane, Lao (UPI)—Communist Pathet Lao troops believed supported by North Vietnamese have overrun neutralist headquarters in central Laos and pushed on for six miles, it was reported Saturday.

Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma charged in a communique Friday night the Communists were violating the Geneva-imposed cease-fire and called on Geneva co-chairmen Britain and the Soviet Union to intervene to halt the fighting.

The Communist drive began Sunday, forcing neutralist and right-wing forces into a general retreat, Vientiane sources said.

Capture
The leftists captured neutralist headquarters at Ban Nakay and fighting now rages six miles to the southwest, military sources said.

Ban Nakay is almost in the narrow waist of Laos which is only about 79 miles wide at this point. It is about 30 miles north of Thakhek on the border of Thailand. A Communist victory would cut Laos in two.

Souvanna said he was almost certain the Pathet Lao had the support of North Viet Nam in violation of the Geneva agreements.

Western military sources said the Communist Viet Minh apparently planned the attack against Ban Nakay since it was executed well and the Viet Minh are ranked as better field strategists than the Pathet Lao.

A right-wing spokesman denied reports the border town of Thakhek had been deserted by civilian personnel but Western observers said the town was tense.

Party-Line Dispute Laces In Baker Tiff

Washington (AP)—Senators conducting the Robert G. Baker investigation broke into a party-line dispute Friday over testimony about advertising time purchased on a television station owned by President Johnson's family.

The row erupted after a hearing at which Al G. Young, a cookware manufacturer, was questioned about the circumstances in which he advertised his products on the Austin, Tex., station seven years ago.

Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., of the Senate Select Committee said Young's testimony, and documents he provided, "substantiated" a sworn statement about the matter of Mr. Jenkins, a long-time friend of Johnson's.

Big Talk
Jordan also said that Young's testimony shows beyond any doubt that the variegations of President Johnson was just big talk. It is that there has been a reckless talk about the president's part in all this.

Soon as Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., learned of the chair's statement, he told the men he disagreed with it. Jordan's "inferences" said he wished committee members would not make statements that "what we've found in committee doesn't amount to anything."

Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., a member, also said he thought the testimony should be evaluated until all the evidence is received.

Should Be Called
Scott indicated in answer to a question, that Jenkins should be called as a witness in the conflict-of-interest investigation into the outside business dealings of Baker, who resigned Oct. 7 as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

Young's testimony is to be made public by the committee Saturday, along with other secret testimony from Ernest C. Tucker, Baker's law partner.

Young was called at the insistence of Republicans in an effort to resolve what they termed a conflict between Jenkins' sworn statement and testimony given by Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance man.

Testified
Reynolds testified that he bought $1,208 worth of advertising time on the Austin station at Jenkins' request after writing $100,000 in insurance policies on Johnson's life. He said that since he had no use for the TV time, he arranged for Young to use it.

Jenkins, in his statement to the committee, denied knowledge of any arrangements by which Reynolds purchased the advertising time.

Young told newsmen after being closeted with the rules committee for about 2½ hours today that "a man who claimed to be Mr. Jenkins called me to confirm the arrangements Mr. Reynolds had made."

Both Sides In House Urging Orderly Civil Rights Debate

Washington (AP)—The House moved smoothly into debate on the civil rights bill Friday, both sides urging a calm, orderly discussion of the omnibus measure.

Opponents in a debate move to use available debating tactics and urged others to avoid "waving flag of sectionalism" during the week or more the bill will spend on the floor.

Before the debate, Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., predicted the bill would not be "seriously amended."

Opponents of the omnibus bill aimed at ending racial discrimination in employment, schools, public accommodations and federally programs, have dozens of amendments to offer. A final vote is due by Feb. 11, the bill will move on to Senate and an expected later.

Plan For Passage
A bipartisan agreement reached by the Democratic and Republican House leaders was quickly evident as they from both parties pleaded for its passage. Emanuel Celler, D-Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, which the bill, said its purpose is to "place into balance the scales of justice so that the living force of our constitution shall apply to all people, not only to those who by accident or birth were born with white skins."

Conscience
A similar plea was made by Rep. Richard H. Poff, R-Va.: "There is no reason why debate should not be spirited, but spirit should be kept within the bounds of conscience." Poff said the main question raised by the bill is how far, in obedience to the constitution, civil rights for all can trespass on personal liberty.

The leadership scheduled a Saturday session in hopes of winding up the 10 hours of debate by evening and starting on the amendments Monday.

Protest Russian Cars

EASTBOROUGH

There are numerous optimistic individuals in the Lincoln area these days. The "tropical" temperatures, which usually accompany spring, seems to have pushed winter into the background and put spring and summer right within our reach.

For example, may we suggest to suburban residents who may have a doubt in their minds about the weather to cruise downtown and glance in the department store windows where swimsuits, shorts, and summer patio outfits fill the windows or—take one quick look at the hardware store window where snow shovels are now half price.

Everyone seems to be rushing spring a little these days except in Eastborough where these residents are too busy entertaining and traveling to notice the weather.

Mrs. Tom Ateyo was hostess on Wednesday evening at her Eastborough home when she entertained at a farewell coffee honoring Mrs. Stan Burg, who with Mr. Burg and their two children now reside in Meadow Lane.

Guests attending the evening get-together included Mrs. Norbert Kampfsider, Mrs. Burg, Mrs. Bruce Passey, Mrs. Ed Hinds, Mrs. Don Hudman, Mrs. Arthur Aksamit, Mrs. Stan Manske, Mrs. Hartley Doane, Mrs. James Hoerner, Mrs. Charles Cade, Mrs. Keith Erlewine and Mrs. William Miller.

A birthday celebrant in the Eastborough area this coming Thursday will be Renee Spale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spale, who will be celebrating her fifth anniversary.

Eighteen guests will be entertained at the Wayne West show on Thursday afternoon and then they will return to the Spale home to top off their afternoon with cake and ice cream.

Eastborough residents who will be motoring to Omaha

this evening are Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Nugteren. They will spend the evening viewing "How the West Was Won," and will be returning home tonight.

Entertaining out-of-town guests at their home in Eastborough last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Degenhardt and their children, Dannie, Joan, Alice, David and Carol.

Their guests were Mrs. Degenhardt's parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Richard of Miltonvale, Kan., and their daughter, Barbara, who is a student at Kansas State.

The guests arrived last Friday afternoon and returned to their home state on Sunday.

MEADOW LANE

Expecting out-of-town guests this weekend are Mr. and Mrs. Judson McDougall and their two children, Pam and David.

Arriving today will be Mr. McDougall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Judson McDougall Sr., from LeMars, Iowa. They will be visiting until Sunday.

Anstine of Scottsbluff, which took place on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 25, at the home of the bride's parents. An arrangement of white gladioli, white and blue-tinted carnations and lighted candles formed the background for the 3 o'clock service, which was solemnized by the Rev. William Cross, rector of the Church of the Holy Trinity Church, Episcopal.

Flocked in pale blue brocade in the daytime modes and carrying nosegays of carnations in white and frock tone were Mrs. Thomas Cooper, who was her sister's matron of honor; Miss Kathy Anstine, Scottsbluff, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Marilyn Fox, the bridesmaids; and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Denise Franks.

Lance Cpl. Dennis Anstine, Camp Pendleton, Calif., served his brother as best man, and the corps of ushers included Thomas Cooper, Dale Voss, III, Allen McDowell, Robert Barry and Robert Tatman.

White lace over silk fashioned the bride's gown in the after-five mode. Natural scallops of the lace edged the sleeveless bodice, and below the elongated waist, the circular skirt was gathered into fullness. Her illusion veil was shoulder-length and was held by a crown of pearls and iridescent beading, and she carried an arrangement of gardenias centered with a white orchid.

The couple will reside at 5102 Starr. A former student at the University of Nebraska, the bride is a member of Alpha Xi Delta. Mr. Anstine is a graduate of the university and a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Dear Abby

Too Many Want The Credit

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: As a journalist, responsible for writing the truth, did you do a competent research job before giving credit to the Houston Police Department for "Ten Easy Rules For Raising A Delinquent?"

Sincerely yours,

MINISTER,

PHILLIPSBURG, KANSAS

My dear Reverend: The item in question was sent to me by a Chicago reader, crediting the Houston Police Department with authorship. Believing that people are honest until proved otherwise, I ran it verbatim, including the credit. My primary purpose in using the item was to share it with my readers, not to applaud the author. I have since heard from 22 readers, each ascribing authorship of "The Rules" to a different source. If the Houston Police Department did not originate them, I hope the real author will step forward, make himself known and accept my apologies. And now I am reminded of an appropriate quote (I know not whose): "There is no end to the amount of good people could accomplish in this world if nobody cared who got the credit."

Respectfully yours, ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a newspaper compositor and your column comes to my attention frequently. I agree with your advice — most of the time. An exception being your reply to the man whose name was erroneously included with the list of employees who, though invited to the wedding, gave the boss' daughter a gift. His reasons for not conforming were valid, and his name could have been added purposely either to make him conform; become a conspicuous nonconformist in the eyes of his boss; or live a lie among his associates. Your reply dictates that he should allow himself to be tricked into donating to something he believes to be incorrect or to expose himself to a potentially vindictive superior. I feel he should be defended and commended — let the one who added his name to the list kick in with the five bucks.

TED FARABEE

DEAR MR. FARABEE: I don't know for which newspaper you work, but they are lucky. Although I gave a great deal of thought to my reply, I must admit I missed the boat. Your answer was better, and I thank you.

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter from "Likes It Peaceful" with much interest. I agree with her husband, who refused to drive the carload of children to school because he thought the walk would do them good. When I was a boy nobody chauffeured us to school and we didn't expect it. We walked two miles there and back every day in all kinds of weather and we didn't live in California, either. Not only that, but when I was six years old and had to have my tonsils out, my mother gave me a nickel and put me on the street car and told the conductor to drop me off at the hospital. She came to get me that night. I lived through it and am none the worse for it. I think our kids today are so pampered it's pitiful.

To Observe Anniversary

Mortar Board Alumnae are making plans for celebrating the 59th anniversary of the founding of the honor society on the University of Nebraska campus.

Marking the occasion will be a 1 o'clock luncheon next Saturday, Feb. 8, at the Kellogg Center, with Mrs. Helen Boosalis, Lincoln city council member, as featured speaker. Mrs. Boosalis will speak on the topic, "Problems and Progress", and presiding will be Mrs. Bernard Wishnow, president of the alumnae.

In charge of luncheon arrangements are Mrs. Dorothy C. Olson and Mrs. Kenneth Clark, assisted by Mrs. David Dow, Mrs. Gary Fusselman, Mrs. Roscoe Hill, Mrs. Robert Knoll and Mrs. Harry Levinson.

Invitations were extended to 150 guests for the wedding of Miss Lynn Eden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winfield W. Eden, and David D. Anstine, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Anstine of Scottsbluff, which took place on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 25, at the home of the bride's parents.

An arrangement of white gladioli, white and blue-tinted carnations and lighted candles formed the background for the 3 o'clock service, which was solemnized by the Rev. William Cross, rector of the Church of the Holy Trinity Church, Episcopal.

Frocked in pale blue brocade in the daytime modes and carrying nosegays of carnations in white and frock to one were Mrs. Thomas

Cooper, who was her sister's matron of honor; Miss Kathy Anstine, Scottsbluff, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Marilyn Fox, the bridesmaids; and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Denise Franks.

Lance Cpl. Dennis Anstine, Camp Pendleton, Calif., served his brother as best man, and the corps of ushers included Thomas Cooper, Dale Voss, III, Allen McDowell, Robert Barry and Robert Tatman.

White lace over silk fashioned the bride's gown in the after-five mode. Natural scallops of the lace edged the bateau neckline of the sleeveless bodice, and below the elongated waist, the circular skirt was gathered into fullness. Her illusion veil was shoulder-length and was held by a crown of pearls and iridescent beading, and she carried an arrangement of gardenias centered with a white orchid.

The couple will reside at 5102 Starr. A former student at the University of Nebraska, the bride is a member of Alpha Xi Delta. Mr. Anstine is a graduate of the university and a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

EASTBOROUGH

There are numerous optimistic individuals in the Lincoln area these days. The "tropical" temperatures, which usually accompany spring, seems to have pushed winter into the background and put spring and summer right within our reach.

For example, may we suggest to suburban residents who may have a doubt in their minds about the weather to cruise downtown and glance in the department store windows where swimsuits, shorts, and summer patio outfits fill the windows or—take one quick look at the hardware store window where snow shovels are now half price.

Everyone seems to be rushing spring a little these days except in Eastborough where these residents are too busy entertaining and traveling to notice the weather.

Mrs. Tom Ateyo was hostess on Wednesday evening at her Eastborough home when she entertained at a farewell coffee honoring Mrs. Stan Burg, who with Mr. Burg and their two children now reside in Meadow Lane.

Guests attending the evening get-together included Mrs. Norbert Kampnsider, Mrs. Burg, Mrs. Bruce Passey, Mrs. Ed Hinds, Mrs. Don Hudman, Mrs. Arthur Aksamit, Mrs. Stan Manske, Mrs. Hartley Doane, Mrs. James Hoerner, Mrs. Charles Cade, Mrs. Kieth Erlewine and Mrs. William Miller.

A birthday celebrant in the Eastborough area this coming Thursday will be Renee Spale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spale, who will be celebrating her fifth anniversary.

Eighteen guests will be entertained at the Wayne West show on Thursday afternoon and then they will return to the Spale home to top off their afternoon with cake and ice cream.

Eastborough residents who will be motoring to Omaha

this evening are Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Nugteren. They will spend the evening viewing "How the West Was Won," and will be returning home tonight.

Entertaining out-of-town guests at their home in Eastborough last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Degenhardt and their children, Dannie, Joan, Alice, David and Carol.

Their guests were Mrs. Degenhardt's parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Richard of Miltonvale, Kan., and their daughter, Barbara, who is a student at Kansas State.

The guests arrived last Friday afternoon and returned to their home state on Sunday.

MEADOW LANE

Expecting out-of-town guests this weekend are Mr. and Mrs. Judson McDougall and their two children, Pam and David.

Arriving today will be Mr. McDougall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Judson McDougall Sr., from LeMars, Iowa. They will be visiting until Sunday.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: As a journalist, responsible for writing the truth, did you do a competent research job before giving credit to the Houston Police Department for "Ten Easy Rules For Raising A Delinquent"?

Sincerely yours,
MINISTER.
PHILLIPSBURG, KANSAS
My dear Reverend: The item in question was sent to me by a Chicago reader, crediting the Houston Police Department with authorship. Believing that people are honest until proved otherwise, I ran it verbatim, including the credit. My primary purpose in using the item was to share it with my readers, not to applaud the author. I have since heard from 22 readers, each ascribing authorship of "The Rules" to a different source. If the Houston Police Department did not originate them, I hope the real author will step forward, make himself known and accept my apologies. And now I am reminded of an appropriate quote (I know not whose): "There is no end to the amount of good people could accomplish in this world if nobody cared who got the credit."

Respectfully yours,

Doll Clothes Keeper

Back

As a little "mother" finishes using the various outfits of her dolls, she can place each piece in a clothes keeper, with pockets labeled specially for particular accessories. Make the clothes keeper out of white quilted fabric so it can be wiped clean with a damp sponge when necessary.

The four pockets on top are just right for socks, shoes, hangers and hats. The two large lower pockets leave plenty of room for dresses, blouses, etc.

You'll Need: 3/4 yard of quilted plastic 36 inches wide; 4 1/2 yards of double-fold bias tape; 2 yards of any rickrack to match the bias tape.

To Cut: 1. Make pattern following diagram. The four upper pockets are cut in one long strip measuring 32"x6". The two lower pockets are also cut in one strip measuring 17"x14".

2. Mark pattern for each individual pocket as shown. Each upper pocket is 8 inches wide and each lower pocket is 16 inches wide.

To Make: 1. Bind upper edge of both upper and lower pocket pieces.

2. Box-pleat each pocket section equally, following our pocket guide lines. Pleats on upper pockets will be 1 1/4 inches deep on each side. Pleats on lower pockets will be 2 1/4 inches deep on each side.

3. Hand-crease pleats. Pin pleats at lower edge to hold place.

4. Pin lower pocket section backing piece with raw edges even.

5. Bind lower edge of upper pocket. Be sure to catch pleats in binding. Stitch to backing piece 1 1/2 inches above lower pocket, stitching over bias tape stitching line.

6. Secure upper pockets to backing with 3 vertical rows of stitching, using the original pocket guide lines. They should now be 3 1/2 inches apart. Secure lower pockets to backing with one vertical row of stitching down the center of the pocket.

7. Top-stitch one row of bias tape 2 inches from upper edge of backing.

8. Bind the four outside edges, catching the pockets in on the two sides and bottom edges, and inserting 2 hanging loops 7 inches apart on back side of upper edge.

9. With Baby rickrack, stitch or glue doll's name across upper panel.

To make it easy for a child to know at a glance what belongs in which pocket, hand-tack miniature doll's accessories to pockets to act as labels.

For your copy of FIFTEEN GIFTS YOU CAN MAKE, write to Patricia Scott in care of Box 158, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20c in coin to cover printing and handling costs. The subjects for this fascinating booklet were selected from Miss Scott's most popular columns.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily she cannot answer individual letters.

from dummy, losing to the king, and East then returns the three of hearts.

Declarer is now at a crucial point in the hand. He has lost three tricks and must win the rest to make the contract. The prospects are not good, since there is a danger of also losing a club and a spade.

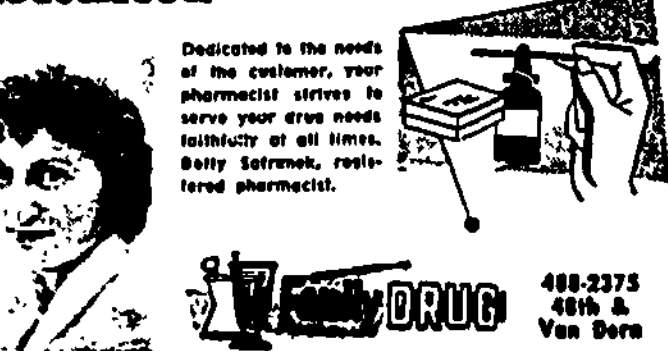

To win the heart with the queen and then cash the A-K of spades would be the simplest but not the best method of play. Since the club finesse has to be taken in any event, it is better to do that before deciding how to play the spades.

Accordingly, South wins the heart in dummy with the ace and finessees the queen of clubs. After cashing the ace of spades, he plays the ace and another club, ruffing in dummy.

When East's king falls on the trick, South has a pretty good idea of East's original distribution. East probably had four hearts (judging from West's lead of the two and East's return of the three). East probably had three diamonds (having failed to play high-low in diamonds), and also three clubs (judging from the fall of the king).

All indications point to East's having started with three spades, and South therefore leads the jack and finessees when East follows low.

As a little "mother" finishes using the various outfits of her dolls, she can place each piece in a clothes keeper, with pockets labeled especially for particular accessories. Make the clothes keeper out of white quilted plastic so it can be wiped clean with a damp sponge when necessary.

The four pockets on top are just right for socks, shoes, hangers and hats. The two large lower pockets leave plenty of room for dresses, skirts, blouses, etc.

You'll Need: 1/4 yard of quilted plastic 36 inches wide; 4 1/2 yards of double-fold bias tape; 2 yards of baby rickrack to match the bias tape.

To Cut: Make pattern following the diagram. The four upper pockets are cut in one long strip measuring 32"x6". The two lower pockets are also cut in one strip measuring 32"x6". The back piece measures 17"x14".

2. Mark pattern for each individual pocket as shown. Each upper pocket is 8 inches wide and each lower pocket is 16 inches wide.

To Make: 1. Bind upper edge of both upper and lower pocket pieces.

2. Box-pleat each pocket section equally, following your pocket guide lines. Pleats on upper pockets will be 1 1/2 inches deep on each side. Pleats on lower pockets will be 2 1/4 inches deep on each side.

3. Hand-crease pleats. Pin pleats at lower edge to hold in place.

4. Pin lower pocket section to backing piece with raw edges even.

5. Bind lower edge of upper pocket. Be sure to catch pleats in binding. Stitch to backing piece 1 1/2 inches above lower pocket, stitching over bias tape stitching line.

6. Secure upper pockets to backing with 3 vertical rows of stitching, using the original pocket guide lines. They should now be 3 1/2 inches apart. Secure lower pockets to backing with one vertical row of stitching down the center of the pocket.

7. Top-stitch one row of bias tape 2 inches from upper edge of backing.

8. Bind the four outside edges, catching the pockets in on the two sides and bottom edges, and inserting 2 hanging loops 7 inches apart on back side of upper edge.

9. With Baby rickrack, stitch or glue doll's name across upper panel.

To make it easy for a child to know at a glance what belongs in which pocket, hand-tack miniature doll's accessories to pockets to act as labels.

Opening lead — king of diamonds.

The general rule, missing the Q-x-x-x of a suit, is to cash the A-K in the hope that the queen will drop on the first or second lead of the suit.

However, the mathematical advantage of the queen is only slightly greater than playing for a finesse against the queen, and for this reason a competent declarer will feel free to finesse whenever the circumstances indicate that that is the better play.

Here is a hand to illustrate the point. South is in four spades and West leads the K-Q of diamonds on which East plays the four and then the eight.

West now leads the deuce of hearts. South plays low from dummy, losing to the king, and East then returns the three of hearts.

Declarer is now at a crucial point in the hand. He has lost three tricks and must win the rest to make the contract. The prospects are not good, since there is a danger of also losing a club and a spade.

To win the heart with the queen and then cash the A-K of spades would be the simplest but not the best method of play. Since the club finesse has to be taken in any event, it is better to do that before deciding how to play the spades.

Accordingly, South wins the heart in dummy with the ace and finesse the queen of clubs. After cashing the ace of spades, he plays the ace and another club, ruffing in dummy.

When East's king falls on the trick, South has a pretty good idea of East's original distribution. East probably had four hearts (judging from West's lead of the two and East's return of the three). East probably had three diamonds (having failed to play high-low in diamonds), and also three clubs (judging from the fall of the king).

All indications point to East's having started with three spades, and South therefore leads the jack and finesse when East follows low.

YW Re-Elects Mrs. Hoover

Mrs. Leonard E. Hoover was re-elected president of the YWCA Friday at the annual dinner meeting of the YWCA.

First vice president Mrs. Fern Orme, Treasurer Mrs. Earl Carter and Assistant Treasurer Mrs. E. V. Mulligan were also re-elected officers of the Mrs. Hoover YWCA.

Newly elected officers were Mrs. George W. Knight, second vice president; Mrs. W. C. Meierhenry, third vice

Ackerman Speaks

Main dinner speaker James Ackerman, president of the Lincoln Community Council, told the nearly 200 members attending that the "programs of the YWCA are directly involved in the work of the community council."

Ackerman, legal advisor to the YWCA, explained the work and the aim of the council and praised the YW's work in the city.

"The community council is very much aware of the YWCA and the fine work it is doing in Lincoln," Ackerman noted.

Mrs. Wenona M. Gerhard, executive director of the YWCA, in a report of the 1963 program stressed many areas in which the YW works, giving a rundown on old programs and new ones begun in 1963.

She noted in particular the Teen Canteen for junior high boys and girls held at the YWCA on Friday evenings. She said that between 175 and 200 youths have been attending the supervised activity since it began.

Budget Up $3,000

YWCA members adopted a $105,443.31 budget for 1964, an increase of over $3,000 from the 1963 budget. Mrs. Gerhard said that over 56% of the budget comes from the Community Chest.

Newly elected officers to the Board of Directors for a three year term were: Mrs. Evar Anderson, Mrs. Herbert Casey, Mrs. Marie Hulbert, Mrs. Frank Marsh and Mrs. Vance Rogers.

Re-elected to the board were: Mrs. Earl Carter, Mrs. George W. Knight, Mrs. Fern Orme, Mrs. W. W. Putney and Mrs. Monroe Usher.

Elected to the 1964 nominating committee were: Mrs. Albert Held, Mrs. Vance Traphagen, Mrs. Richard A. Heim, Miss Eula Ree Merwin and Mrs. Kenneth McGinnis.

Marvel: Budget Tapes, Records Will Be Filed

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Records of the 1963 Budget Committee, similar to those filed in previous sessions, will be given to Clerk of the Legislature Hugo S. Budget Chairman Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings said Friday.

In addition to these records, tape recordings of committee sessions will be available to the public also, Marvel said.

A controversy developed this week when it was disclosed that no records of the 1963 Budget Committee had been filed with the clerk as required by rules of the Legislature for each of its standing committees.

Being Prepared

The transcripts of the records are now being prepared by Mrs. Barbara Hornsby who served as secretary of the committee during the session, but who has since married and left her position in the Legislative Fiscal Analyst's office. The notes are in her possession and she is not now in Lincoln.

Queried about the propriety of committee property being outside the State Capitol, Marvel said the matter had developed into a question of the practical means of getting the secretary's notes transcribed.

He said Mrs. Hornsby had worked both as secretary to the committee and to the fiscal analyst and simply did not have time to complete the work during the session or prior to her leaving her post in December.

Necessary

The Hastings senator said it appeared it would be necessary in the future to hire a separate full-time secretary for the committee.

The Legislative Council Budget Interim Committee Friday heard an initial report from Bouz-Allen-Hamilton representatives who are conducting a personnel study for the state.

Tentative recommendations were given the committee for establishing a personnel program for the state, but they were not made public.

The committee will meet with the study consultants again Feb. 26 for a final report.

Discuss Methods

Earlier in the day the committee met with University of Nebraska Vice Chancellors Adam Breckenridge and Joseph Soshnik to discuss methods of speeding up consideration of NU's budget request in the 1965 legislative session.

Drs. Soshnik and Breckenridge said the University would welcome the opportunity to present its case early in the session. Early consideration and action by the Legislature would give NU a faster start on lining up its instructional staff, they said.

State agencies are required by law to submit their budgets by Sept. 15 in the year preceding legislative sessions, but extensions have been granted some of the larger agencies.

It was indicated the University might be able to submit an estimated budget in September, then modify it later as needed when additional information is available.

Account Simplification Decision Is Delayed

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislative Council Executive Board has deferred until next Wednesday a decision on what action it will take concerning state accounting fund simplification proposals made Friday by study consultants.

Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co. representatives conducting the study advised board members Friday that placing receipts from 94 cash funds in the state's property tax-supported general fund would simplify bookkeeping procedures and reduce costs.

It was suggested the change could make another $1 million available for investment purposes by the state treasurer.

The cash funds generally are receipts from special fees or licenses for specific purposes and are kept in separate accounts for the departments involved.

Urges Keeping Identity

Sen. Don Thompson of McCook said he would not want the specific fee revenues to lose their identity if they were placed in the general fund.

He voiced the fear the cash funds might be used to support functions for other items of government than that for which they were intended in the general fund.

On another matter, the study consultants advised the board they are pursuing study of an alternative course in its proposed mechanization of warrant writing processes to place the automation under control of the state auditor.

Ruling Caused Change

The study was necessitated by advice from the attorney general last week that the consultants' proposal that such automation be placed under the tax commission would be unconstitutional.

Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City, board chairman, said members would meet with State Normal Board representatives also next Wednesday to consider a change in the $1.5 million dormitory revenue bond issue for Kearney State College.

The Normal Board originally received approval to issue the bonds on a 30-year basis, but now wants the issue extended to 40 years.

YW Re-Elects Mrs. Hoover

Mrs. Leonard E. Hoover was re-elected president of the YWCA Friday at the annual dinner meeting of the YWCA.

First vice president Mrs. Fern Orme, treasurer Mrs. Earl Carter and assistant treasurer Mrs. E. V. Mulligan were also re-elected officers of the Mrs. Hoover YWCA.

Newly elected officers were Mrs. George W. Knight, second vice president; Mrs. W. C. Meierhenry, third vice

Ackerman Speaks

Main dinner speaker James Ackerman, president of the Lincoln Community Council, told the nearly 200 members attending that the "programs of the YWCA are directly involved in the work of the community council."

Ackerman, legal advisor to the YWCA, explained the work and the aim of the council and praised the YW's work in the city.

"The community council is very much aware of the YWCA and the fine work it is doing in Lincoln," Ackerman noted.

Mrs. Wenona M. Gerhard, executive director of the YWCA, in a report of the 1963 program stressed many areas in which the YW works, giving a rundown on old programs and new ones begun in 1963.

She noted in particular the Teen Canteen for junior high boys and girls held at the YWCA on Friday evenings. She said that between 175 and 200 youths have been attending the supervised activity since it began.

Budget Up $3,000

YWCA members adopted a $105,443.31 budget for 1964, an increase of over $3,000 from the 1963 budget. Mrs. Gerhard said that over 56% of the budget comes from the Community Chest.

Newly elected officers to the Board of Directors for a three year term were: Mrs. Evander Anderson, Mrs. Herbert Casey, Mrs. Marie Hulbert, Mrs. F. Ink Marsh and Mrs. Vance Rogers.

Re-elected to the board were: Mrs. Earl Carter, Mrs. George W. Knight, Mrs. Fern Orme, Mrs. W. W. Putney and Mrs. Monroe Usher.

Elected to the 1964 nominating committee were: Mrs. Albert Held, Mrs. Vance Traphagen, Mrs. Richard A. Heim, Miss Eula Ree Merwin and Mrs. Kenneth McGinnis.

Marvel: Budget Tapes, Records Will Be Filed

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Records of the 1963 Budget Committee, similar to those filed in previous sessions, will be given to Clerk of the Legislature Hugo Srb, Budget Chairman Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings said Friday.

In addition to these records, tape recordings of committee sessions will be available to the public also, Marvel said.

A controversy developed this week when it was disclosed that no records of the 1963 Budget Committee had been filed with the clerk as required by rules of the Legislature for each of its standing committees.

Being Prepared

The transcripts of the records are now being prepared by Mrs. Barbara Hornsby who served as secretary of the committee during the session, but who has since married and left her position in the Legislative Fiscal Analyst's office. The notes are in her possession and she is not now in Lincoln.

Queried about the propriety of committee property being outside the State Capitol, Marvel said the matter had developed into a question of the practical means of getting the secretary's notes transcribed.

He said Mrs. Hornsby had worked both as secretary to the committee and to the fiscal analyst and simply did not have time to complete the work during the session or prior to her leaving her post in December.

Necessary

The Hastings senator said it appeared it would be necessary in the future to hire a separate full-time secretary for the committee.

The Legislative Council Budget Interim Committee Friday heard an initial report from Booz-Allen-Hamilton representatives who are conducting a personnel study for the state.

Tentative recommendations were given the committee for establishing a personnel program for the state, but they were not made public.

The committee will meet with the study consultants again Feb. 26 for a final report.

Discuss Methods

Earlier in the day the committee met with University of Nebraska Vice Chancellors Adam Breckenridge and Joseph Soshnik to discuss methods of speeding up consideration of NU's budget request in the 1965 legislative session.

Drs. Soshnik and Breckenridge said the University would welcome the opportunity to present its case early in the session. Early consideration and action by the Legislature would give NU a faster start on lining up its instructional staff, they said.

State agencies are required by law to submit their budgets by Sept. 15 in the year preceding legislative sessions, but extensions have been granted some of the larger agencies.

It was indicated the University might be able to submit an estimated budget in September, then modify it later as needed when additional information is available.

Account Simplification Decision Is Delayed

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislative Council Executive Board has deferred until next Wednesday a decision on what action it will take concerning state accounting fund simplification proposals made Friday by study consultants.

Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co. representatives conducting the study advised board members Friday that placing receipts from 94 cash funds in the state's property tax-supported general fund would simplify bookkeeping procedures and reduce costs.

It was suggested the change could make another $1 million available for investment purposes by the state treasurer.

The cash funds generally are receipts from special fees or licenses for specific purposes and are kept in separate accounts for the departments involved.

Urges Keeping Identity

Sen. Don Thompson of McCook said he would not want the specific fee revenues to lose their identity if they were placed in the general fund.

He voiced the fear the cash funds might be used to support functions for other items of government than that for which they were intended if they were placed in the general fund.

On another matter, the study consultants advised the board they are pursuing study of an alternative course in its proposed mechanization of warrant writing processes to place the automation under control of the state auditor.

Ruling Caused Change

The study was necessitated by advice from the attorney general last week that the consultants' proposal that such automation be placed under the tax commission would be unconstitutional.

Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City, board chairman, said members would meet with State Normal Board representatives also next Wednesday to consider a change in the $1.5 million dormitory revenue bond issue for Kearney State College.

The Normal Board originally received approval to issue the bonds on a 30-year basis, but now wants the issue extended to 40 years.

K-Club Queen Candidates Told

Kearney (UPI) — Four coeds at Kearney State College are candidates for K-Club queen.

The finalists were chosen from 11 women nominated. The queen will be crowned during the K-Club dance Saturday.

Candidates are Vicki Livingston, Kearney; Charlotte Licking, Seneca; Carol Kinam, Oxford; and Juanita Roseno, York.

Dr. Millett, 54, Omaha, Is Dead

Omaha (AP) — Dr. Clinton C. Millett, 54, Omaha, who led the medical phase of the Sabin oral vaccine program in Omaha, died Friday, apparently of a heart attack.

Bank Clearings Told

Lincoln's two downtown banks Friday reported that January 1964 bank clearings totaled $55,989,106. This compares with $57,517,453 for the same month in 1963.

COUNT YOUR BLESSINGS!

...but who could count them? They are too numerous to count. God isn't stingy... He doesn't dish them out to us one by one, but rather pours them out in numbers too big to count. Consider only a few of the greater blessings.

He created us in His image and gave us power of reason, of choice, and the capacity to respond to varied stimuli. He put the world at our disposal and cautioned us about how we use it.

He supplied our homes, our families and gobs of material wealth we never thought possible.

Who could ask for more? Tell us just who among us could even begin to count his blessings?

Maybe it's a good time to start doing something for God... start going to church,—for He said, "Blessings are upon the head of the just."

Hastings, sporting one of the best win-loss records in the state, tangles with old rival Nebraska Wesleyan on tonight in Ira J. Taylor gymnasium. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

It's the 91st meeting between the two schools in a rivalry that dates to 1910. The Plainsmen, 14-2 this season, hold the series edge, 49-41.

Cow coach Lynn Farrell's Broncs, fortified by two junior college transfers, are vastly improved over their 11-14 season last year. The Nebraska College Conference entry has posted 13 wins against a pair of losses to Ft. Hays and Mankato State.

The JC arrivals — Bennie Crawford and Eddie Lorenzen — pace Hastings in both scoring and rebounding and boost the height average for the starting five to a respectable 6-3.

Through 14 games, Crawford has averaged 23.2 points and 16.8 rebounds per game; Lorenzen 17.7 points and 13.6 rebounds. Walt Hamlett, 6-3 forward, rounds out the rugged front line and is third in rebounds with a 12.7 average.

Wesleyan will field its usual starting five, but will have a new squad member for tonight's fray. Ron Miller, 6-5 center from Clatonia, became eligible second semester and will give the short Plainsmen some needed height.

After notching 119 points in his last four outings, Chet Paul has widened his scoring leadership for the Plainsmen. The 6-5 center is averaging 21.6 after 16 games and is also the team's top rebounder with a 12.5 average.

Dick Nelson, runnerup on the point chart with a 19.2 of breaking the four-year scoring record of 1370 held by Jim Munford.

Fighters Bid For Southeast District Crowns Tonight

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Nine fighters who came up with byes in the first night of action will move into the ring tonight in quest of Southeast District Golden Gloves championships.

Tonight's championship bouts will get under way at 8 p.m. at the State Fairgrounds 4-H Arena. Southeast champions will move into the Midwest Tournament at Omaha Feb. 13-14 to vie for trips to the national meet at Louisville, Ky., Feb. 24-28.

Moon In Corner Bornemeier, last year's 118-pound winner, will go against Wayne Larrabee of Fremont for the 126-pound title tonight. Larrabee is being handled by Collin Moon, who will be bidding for the middleweight crown against Dave Jaquez of Falls City, handled by Jake Nananamatobe.

Moon also will be directing Al Cornet's corner when Cornet meets Jim Blake for the light-heavyweight chamionship. Cornet drew a bye Thursday night while Blake needed only 1:43 of the second round to finish off Keith Klumbrough.

The Moon-Jaquez bout rates as the feature bout of the night. Moon, a bearded Englishman, has won all three starts since coming to Fremont from Nottingham, England, last fall. His third United States win came

Jaquez Wins 4 Jaquez has won all four of his starts this season with the four victories coming in Kansas City bouts. He was a spectator Thursday night while Moon was scoring his quick TKO.

Grell made quick work of Fremont's Italian Pals Thursday night with referee Gene Buzzello stopping the action after 1:03 of the first round.

Burrell drew a bye into tonight's final bout and the veteran boxer will be fighting out of the Gene Acosta camp.

Acosta Wins 3 Acosta will send three fighters into tonight's final bouts while the Larry Emery stable leads the finalists with eight.

Emery, winner of the Southeast District title 10 of the last 11 years, already has one champion crowned. Lonnie Crosby was uncontested in the flyweight division.

The sponsoring Lincoln Associated Master Barbers will award a trophy to the outstanding fighter in the tournament and to the outstanding sportsman at the conclusion of tonight's program.

Tonight's championship pairings:

118-Gary Vobe, Emery, vs. Eddie Phillips, Acosta
126-Hank Bornemeier, Emery, vs. Wayne Larrabee, Moon
135-High Grupp, Emery, vs. Frankie Phillips, Acosta
147-Collin Moon, Emery, vs. Dave Jaquez, Falls City
160-Dino Phillips, Emery, vs. Jack Truax, Emery
175-Jim Blake, Emery, vs. Al Cornet, Moon
Hwt.-Stan Grell, Emery, vs. Vic Burrell, Acosta

Knights Sizzle To Win Over Northeast, 58-55

Southeast Hits 51.6 Per Cent

... LOSS STRING SNAPPED

Star Sports Writer

A team that connects on 51.6% of its field goal attempts, fires at a 73.7% from the free throw line, out-rebounds its foe, has a balanced scoring attack with four players in double figures and displays an aggressive defense is tough to beat.

And that's what Lincoln Northeast learned Friday night as the Rockets ran into a sizzling Southeast club that wasn't to be denied.

The Knights broke a three-game losing streak, beating the Rockets, 58-55, in a noisy clash before 4,000 fans at Pershing Auditorium.

Southeast broke open a tight game with an early fourth quarter spurt and notched its fifth win against six losses. Northeast has a 6-3 ledger for the season.

Knights Hot

Avenging an earlier overtime loss to Northeast, the Knights swished 22 of 43 tries from the field and bucketed 14 of 19 from the line. The Rockets got 22 more shots but could manage just one more field goal. Northeast hit only seven of 19 free throw chances.

Steve Bock, a 6-3 senior forward, led the Knights' triumph, scoring 18 points and grabbing 11 rebounds.

It was Bock's jump shot with 5:08 left in the game that put Southeast ahead to stay at 47-46. Reserve center Bob Trotter scored on a three-point play less than a minute later and the Knights had the upper hand.

Bock, playing with his right leg bandaged because of an

First Intracity Win

Northeast cut the gap in the final seconds but the Knights chalked up their first intracity win against two losses. Southeast meets Lincoln High next Friday in the final intracity contest of the regular season.

Bock got plenty of help in the final stretch from Trotter, who came off the bench and scored nine points in the last 12 minutes. Trotter finished with 11 points, including a 3-for-6 field goal showing.

Doug Dworak pumped in 12 points for Southeast, 11 of them in the first half. Tandy Markel added 10 points.

Game scoring honors went to Northeast's rangy Bob Hahn. The 6-5 pivot provided an all-night problem for Southeast's zone defense with his close-in shots and wound up with 20 points.

Goldenstein Hits 11

Forward Ron Goldenstein was the only other Rocket in double figures with 11 but Tom Ochsner scored all of his eight points in the last half to prevent a Southeast runaway.

Jerry Motz tallied nine but couldn't find the range in the last half. However, the rugged 6-0 Rocket forward played a good floor game.

The two teams were deadlocked at 29-29 at the intermission after Northeast started slow but caught up with an 18-point second quarter effort.

Northeast fell behind at the third quarter break, 40-36, but tied the Knights again at 44-44. Ochsner's nifty drive-under shot gave the Rockets a brief lead before Southeast's Bock and Trotter took over.

Northeast hosts Grand Island Feb. 8 in its next game. Southeast (4-6) Northeast (3-5)

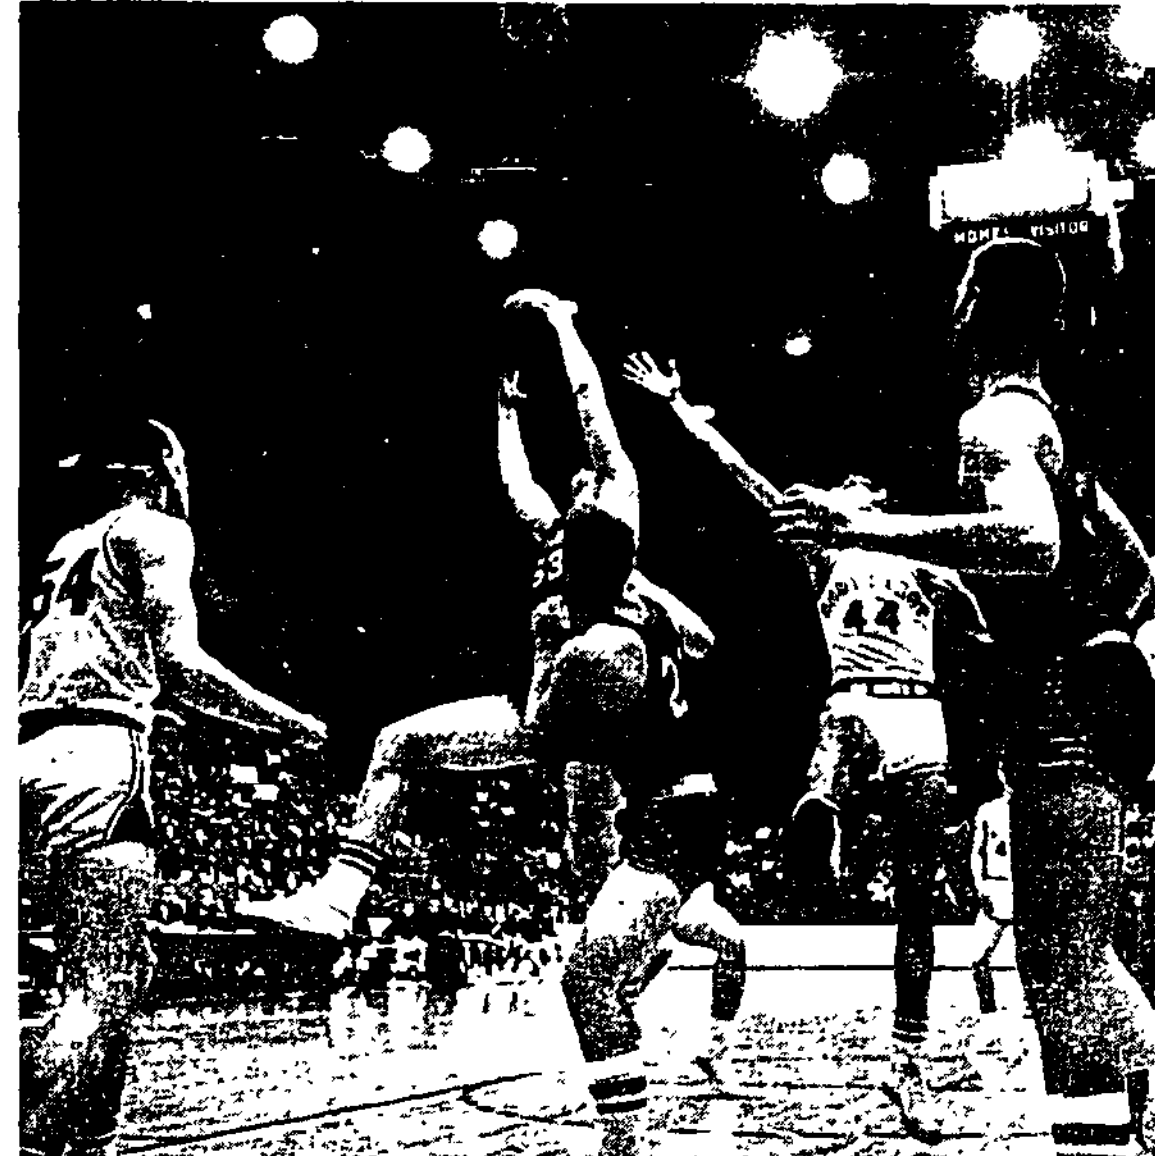

Kansas City JC Defeats Fairbury

Kansas City (1) — Kansas City, Kan. JC took over the lead early in the second half and then had to fight off a Fairbury JC team before posting 68-65 Interstate Conference victory Friday night.

Fairbury led most of the way, 35-33 at intermission. Kansas City opened up an 11 point lead, 52-41, with about 12 minutes to go. Dan Swazick led Kansas City with 16 points. Libal led all scorers with 17.

BASKETBALL BALLET ... Knights, Rockets dance for ball.

... FIRST-HALF SLUMP DOOMS UNI

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Seward — Basketball results aren't usually measured in inches, but that's the margin that Seward enjoyed over University High in a 49-48 contest Friday night.

The one-point decision was nearly reversed in the final second of play when Mike Ernst's desperation toss bounced off the glass and rolled over the lip of the basket.

Uni High, which led only at 2-0, fell victim to a torrid two-man assault by Ray Thompson and Les Krenk in the first half.

Krenk, the game's scoring leader with 25 points, had 15 and Thompson, using a hook shot against lanky David Butler, had 12 at halftime as the Bluejays led 34-22.

Tightened Defense The Tutors, tightening their defense and taking advantage of Seward's inability to connect from outside, trimmed the gap to 40-33 at the end of three quarters.

The Uni High delegation had its first cause for excitement when Tom Hellerich's free throws cut the margin to 44-41 with 4:22 left.

But Krenk, a smooth southpaw, kept Ralph Bowman's club in control by scoring on a drive to make it 46-41 and calmly dropping in a pair of three throws with 57 seconds to play to give the hosts a 48-44 lead.

converted a foul shot between a pair of Ron Schroeder fielders.

Pressed

The Tutors pressed after Schroeder's last tally with 16 seconds remaining and finally came up with a jump ball at mid-court with only three seconds left.

Seward's John Jepson controlled the tip, but it fell into the hands of Ernst, who almost became the hero for the Tutors.

Schroeder, returning to full-time duty after being sidelined by a leg injury, led the losers with 15 points. Jepson, who deflected several of Schroeder's shots, played a big part in holding down the high-scoring Uni High guard.

The win hikes the Seward mark to 8-3. The improving Tutors now sport a 3-6 mark. In preliminary action the Seward reserves recorded a 68-52 win.

Bjorklund Leads Gals All Events

Sally Bjorklund moved into the all-events lead of the Lincoln City Women's Bowling Tournament Friday night with a 1461 scratch score and a 1803 total.

Patrick's Drive-In of the Bowling Belles League grabbed the Class B team division with a 2509 total, including a 300-pin handicap.

Compass Room, also of the Bowling Belles League, took over fifth place in the same division with a 2474 total. They also captured the scratch lead with a 2252 scratch score.

Best Showing Judith Morstein of Butte, Mont., made the best showing among the American girls in speed skating, taking 15th place in 2:33.3. Marie Lawler of Minneapolis, wracked by the pain of a leg muscle ailment, was 19th in 2:34.9 and Janice Smith of Rochester, N. Y., was 24th in the field of 30 with a clocking of 2:37.8.

Miss Smith skidded some 25 yards past the finish line, plowed into a snowbank, and was carried by stretcher away from the course. But she was unhurt. Miss Lawler's shin splits probably will keep her out of further competition in the 1964 games.

There was a different leader after each of the three jumps in the special 70-meter event, decided on the best of three jumps with points awarded on distance and style.

Kankkonen, after a poor first effort, came back with a leap of 262 feet, six inches and then captured the gold medal with a flawless jump of 259-2.

—MORE OLYMPIC GOLD MEDALS FOR FINLAND, RUSSIA—

Hockey Victory Only U.S. Bright Spot

Innsbruck, Austria (1) — Fleet and durable Lidia Skoblikova spearheaded continued Soviet domination of the ninth Winter Olympics with a not a record-smashing speed skating victory Friday as United States forces again were outclassed in their bid for a title.

A rare ray of hope came for the Americans in an 8-0 romp over Germany that kept the defending champions alive in the hockey tournament. However, U.S. chances are slight, since the Yanks already have been whipped by the Russians and still must face powerhouses Canada and Czechoslovakia in the round-robin competition.

Might Win The 24-year-old holder of four world titles already had won the 500-meter, also setting an Olympic record, and might very well skate off with four gold medals. She still has the 1,000 and 3,000 meters to go.

Mrs. Skoblikova's triumph gave Russia its third gold medal of the current Games and the Soviet contingent picked up another bronze when Bertina Kolokolseva took third in the speed skating. Russia now has seven medals over-all, including one silver and three bronze, while no other nation has more than three — and the United States has been shut out completely.

Friday's only other gold went to Finland's Viekko Kankkonen, who soared to victory in the special 70-meter ski jump on the final leap of the day.

Russia's potent hockey team, the current world champions, defeated Czechoslovakia, 7-5, in a game that may have decided the gold medal in this sport. The teams are rated one-two in the round robin but the Russians built up a 4-0 edge in the first period and then hung on for the triumph.

Elsewhere, Britain rocketed into the lead over the favored Italians in the first phases of two-man bobsledding, an 'Holland's ice queen, Sjoukje Dijkstra, increased her lead in women's figure skating singles as compulsory figures were completed.

Far Back America's battered girl speed skaters were well back and America's men were not real threats in the ski jumping. Also, U.S. entries are decided longshots in the bobsledding.

Fighters Bid For Southeast District Crowns Tonight

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Nine fighters who came up with byes in the first night of action will move into the ring tonight in quest of Southeast District Golden Gloves championships.

Tonight's championship bouts will get under way at 8 p.m. at the State Fairgrounds 4-H Arena. Southeast champions will move into the Midwest Tournament at Omaha Feb. 13-14 to vie for trips to the national meet at Louisville, Ky., Feb. 24-28.

One 1963 champion, Hank Bornemeier, is in the field of boxers who drew byes Thursday night and two other 1963 titleholders, Jim Blake and Eddie Phillips, passed opening tests.

Moon In Corner
Bornemeier, last year's 118-

pound winner, will go against Wayne Larrabee of Fremont for the 126-pound title tonight. Larrabee is being handled by Colin Moon, who will be bidding for the middleweight crown against Dave Jaquez of Falls City, handled by Jake Nanamatobe.

Moon also will be directing Al Cornet's corner when Cornet meets Jim Blake for the light-heavyweight championship. Cornet drew a bye Thursday night while Blake needed only 1:43 of the second round to finish off Keith Kimbrough.

The Moon-Jaquez bout rates as the feature bout of the night. Moon, a bearded Englishman, has won all three starts since coming to Fremont from Nottingham, England, last fall. His third United States win came

Thursday night when he ended Ron Roby's ambitions in 47 seconds of the first round.

Jaquez Wins 4
Jaquez has won all four of his starts this season with the four victories coming in Kansas City bouts. He was a spectator Thursday night while Moon was scoring his quick TKO.

Vying with the Moon-Jaquez bout for the feature spot will be a heavyweight battle pitting Stan Grell against Vic Burrell.

Grell made quick work of Fremont's Harlan Pals Thursday night with referee Gene Buzzello stopping the action after 1:03 of the first round.

Burrell drew a bye into tonight's final bout and the veteran boxer will be fighting out of the Gene Acosta camp.

Acosta Owns 3
Acosta will send three fighters into tonight's final bouts while the Larry Emery stable leads the finalists with eight. Moon has two left from Fremont and Falls City has one.

Emery, winner of the Southeast District team title 10 of the last 11 years, already has one champion crowned. Lonnie Crosby was uncontested in the flyweight division.

The sponsoring Lincoln Associated Master Barbers will award a trophy to the outstanding fighter in the tournament and to the outstanding sportsman at the conclusion of tonight's program.

Tonight's championship pairings:
112-Lonnie Crosby, Emery, uncontested champion.
118-Gary Yohe, Emery, vs. Eddie Phillips, Acosta.
126-Hank Bornemeier, Emery, vs. Wayne Larrabee, Moon.
135-Bob Grupp, Emery, vs. Frankie Phillips, Acosta.
147-Colin Moon, Emery, vs. Dave Jaquez, Falls City.
160-Dino Phillips, Emery, vs. Jack Truss, Emery.
173-Jim Blake, Emery, vs. Al Cornet, Moon.
Hwt.-Stan Grell, Emery, vs. Vic Burrell, Acosta.

Knights Sizzle To Win Over Northeast, 58-55

Southeast Hits 51.6 Per Cent

... LOSS STRING SNAPPED

Star Sports Writer

A team that connects on 51.6% of its field goal attempts, fires at a 73.7% from the free throw line, out-rebounds its foe, has a balanced scoring attack with four players in double figures and displays an aggressive defense is tough to beat.

And that's what Lincoln Northeast learned Friday night as the Rockets ran into a sizzling Southeast club that wasn't to be denied.

The Knights broke a three-game losing streak, beating the Rockets, 58-55, in a noisy clash before 4,000 fans at Pershing Auditorium.

Southeast broke open a tight game with an early fourth quarter spurt and notched its fifth win against six losses. Northeast has a 6-3 ledger for the season.

Knights Hot

Avenging an earlier overtime loss to Northeast, the Knights swished 22 of 43 tries from the field and bucketed 14 of 19 from the line. The Rockets got 22 more shots but could manage just one more field goal. Northeast hit only seven of 19 free throw chances.

Steve Bock, a 6-3 senior forward, led the Knights' triumph, scoring 18 points and grabbing 11 rebounds. It was Bock's jump shot with 5:08 left in the game that put Southeast ahead to stay at 47-46. Reserve center Bob Trotter scored on a three-point play less than a minute later and the Knights had the upper hand.

Bock, playing with his right leg bandaged because of an

First Intracity Win

Northeast cut the gap in the final seconds but the Knights chalked up their first intracity win against two losses. Southeast meets Lincoln High next Friday in the final intracity contest of the regular season.

Bock got plenty of help in the final stretch from Trotter, who came off the bench and scored nine points in the last 12 minutes. Trotter finished with 11 points, including a 5-for-6 field goal showing.

Doug Dworak pumped in 12 points for Southeast, 11 of them in the first half. Randy Markel added 10 points.

Game scoring honors went to Northeast's rangy Bob Hahn. The 6-5 pivot provided an all-night problem for Southeast's zone defense with his close-in shots and wound up with 20 points.

Goldenstein Hits 11

Forward Ron Goldenstein was the only other Rocket in double figures with 11 but Tom Ochsenrider scored all of his eight points in the last half to prevent a Southeast runaway.

Jerry Motz tallied nine but couldn't find the range in the last half. However, the rugged 6-0 Rocket forward played a good floor game.

The two teams were deadlocked at 29-29 at the intermission after Northeast started slow but caught up with an 18-point second quarter effort.

Northeast fell behind at the third quarter break, 40-36, but tied the Knights again at 44-44. Ochsenrider's nifty drive-under shot gave the Rockets a brief lead before Southeast's Bock and Trotter took over.

Northeast hosts Grand Island Feb. 8 in its next game.

Kansas City JC Defeats Fairbury

Kansas City (AP) — Kansas City, Kan., JC took over the lead early in the second half and then had to fight off a Fairbury JC team before posting 68-65 Interstate Conference victory Friday night.

Fairbury led most of the way, 35-33 at intermission. Kansas City opened up an 11 point lead, 52-41, with about 12 minutes to go. Dan Swazick led Kansas City with 16 points. Libal led all scorers with 17.

—MORE OLYMPIC GOLD MEDALS FOR FINLAND, RUSSIA—

Hockey Victory Only U.S. Bright Spot

Innsbruck, Austria (AP) — Fleet and durable Lidia Skoblikova spearheaded continued Soviet domination of the ninth Winter Olympics with another record-smashing speed skating victory Friday as United States forces again were outclassed in their bid for a title.

A rare ray of hope came for the Americans in an 8-0 romp over Germany that kept the defending champions alive in the hockey tournament. However, U.S. chances are slight, since the Yanks already have been whipped by the Russians and still must face powerhouses Canada and Czechoslovakia in the round-robin competition.

Before the U.S. hockey victory, Mrs. Skoblikova, a dimpled blonde schoolteacher from Siberia, became the first double winner of the Games by taking the women's 1,500-meter speed skating in Olympic record time of 2 minutes, 22.6 seconds.

Might Win

The 24-year-old holder of four world titles already had won the 500-meter, also setting an Olympic record, and might very well skate off with four gold medals. She still has the 1,000 and 3,000 meters to go.

Mrs. Skoblikova's triumph gave Russia its third gold medal of the current Games and the Soviet contingent picked up another bronze when Bert Kolokoltseva took third in the 500-meter. Russia now has seven medals over-all, including one silver and three bronze, while no other nation has more than three — and the United States has been shut out completely.

Friday's only other gold went to Finland's Viekko Kankkonen, who soared to victory in the special 70-meter ski jump on the final leap of the day.

Russia's potent hockey team, the current world champions, defeated Czechoslovakia, 7-5, in a game that may have decided the gold medal in this sport. The teams are rated one-two in the round robin but the Russians built up a 4-0 edge in the first period and then hung on for the triumph.

Elsewhere, Britain rocketed into the lead over the favored Italians in the first phases of two-man bobsledding, an 'Holland's ice queen, Sjoukje Dijkstra, increased her lead in women's figure skating singles as compulsory figures were completed.

Best Showing
Judith Morstein of Butte, Mont., made the best showing among the American girls in speed skating, taking 15th place in 2:33.3. Marie Lawler of Minneapolis, wracked by the pain of a leg muscle ailment, was 19th in 2:34.9 and Janice Smith of Rochester, N. Y., was 24th in the field of 30 with a clocking of 2:37.3. Miss Smith skidded some 25 yards past the finish line, plowed into a snowbank, and was carried by stretcher away from the course. But she was unhurt. Miss Lawler's shin splits probably will keep her out of further competition in the 1964 games.

There was a different leader after each of the three jumps in the special 70-meter event, decided on the best two of three jumps with points awarded on distance and style.

Kankkonen, after a poor first effort, came back with a leap of 262 feet, six inches and then captured the gold medal with a flawless jump of 259-2.

Seward Survives Late Bid By Tutors, 49-48

... FIRST-HALF SLUMP DOOMS UNI

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Seward — Basketball results aren't usually measured in inches, but that's the margin that Seward enjoyed over University High in a 49-48 contest Friday night.

The one-point decision was nearly reversed in the final second of play when Mike Ernst's desperation toss bounced off the glass and rolled over the lip of the basket.

Uni High, which led only at 2-0, fell victim to a torrid woman assault by Ray Thompson and Les Krenk in the first half.

Krenk, the game's scoring leader with 25 points, had 15 and Thompson, using a hook shot against lanky David Butler, had 12 at halftime as the Bluejays led 34-22.

Tightened Defense

The Tutors, tightening their defense and taking advantage of Seward's inability to connect from outside, trimmed

the gap to 40-33 at the end of three quarters.

The Uni High delegation had its first cause for excitement when Tom Hellerich's free throws cut the margin to 44-41 with 4:14 left.

But Krenk, a smooth southpaw, kept Ralph Bowmaster's club in control by scoring on a drive to make it 46-41 and calmly dropping in a pair of three throws with 57 seconds to play to give the hosts a 48-44 lead.

The vital point was added by Thompson, however, who converted a foul shot between a pair of Ron Schroeder fielders.

Pressed

The Tutors pressed after Schroeder's last tally with 16 seconds remaining and finally came up with a jump ball at mid-court with only three seconds left.

Seward's John Jepson controlled the tip, but it fell into the hands of Ernst, who almost became the hero for the Tutors.

Schroeder, returning to full-time duty after being sidelined by a leg injury, led the losers with 15 points. Jepson, who deflected several of Schroeder's shots, played a big part in holding down the high-scoring Uni High guard.

The win hikes the Seward mark to 8-3. The improving Tutors now sport a 3-6 mark.

In preliminary action the Seward reserves recorded a 68-52 win.

NU May Up Ticket Price

It might cost a fan $5 per game to watch his beloved Cornhuskers perform on the gridiron next fall.

Nebraska athletic director Tippy Dye says he may recommend increasing the price for a ticket from $4 to $5 next week when the Regents hold a meeting here.

Jim Pittenger, athletic manager, said all he knew was that the possible increase in price was being "tossed around."

Final approval of any change would have to come from the Regents.

The Regents next week are also expected to get a report from the athletic department on plans for erection of steel bleachers at the south end of Memorial Stadium.

The present stadium capacity is about 39,000.

TRACK DUCATS GO ON SALE

Kansas City, Mo. (UPI)—Tickets for the 36th Annual Big Eight Conference Indoor Track Championships Feb. 28-29 at the Kansas City Municipal Auditorium go on sale by mail beginning Monday.

Preliminaries and semifinals (plus finals in the broad jump) will be held Feb. 28, with the finals the following day. A six-event program featuring track performers in Kansas City, Mo., high schools will be included on both nights' programs.

Thirty-four 1963 place winners, headed by four champions of a year ago and U.S. olympic broad-jumper Anthony Watson of Oklahoma, headline the individual field. The 1963 champions returning are: Rick Beldner, Missouri, 60-yard dash; Herald Hadley, Kansas, two-mile; Mickey Baller, Oklahoma State, pole vault; and Leander Durley, Colorado, high jump.

Nebraska is defending team champion. The Huskers won the 1963 title—their first since 1949—with a 12-point margin over second-place Missouri as Kansas, winner of 11 of the past 13 meets, dropped to third.

NU May Up Ticket Price

It might cost a fan $5 per game to watch his beloved Cornhuskers perform on the gridiron next fall.

Nebraska athletic director Tippy Dye says he may recommend increasing the price for a ticket from $4 to $5 next week when the Regents hold a meeting here.

Jim Pittenger, athletic manager, said all he knew was that the possible increase in price was being "tossed around."

Final approval of any change would have to come from the Regents.

The Regents next week are also expected to get a report from the athletic department on plans for erection of steel bleachers at the south end of Memorial Stadium.

The present stadium capacity is about 39,000.

Sunday Law Approval Wanted By 15 Firms

Fifteen Lincoln business firms have intervened in three Sunday closing injunction suits pending in Lancaster District Court.

The intervenors are: Hardy Furniture Co., Beecher's, Ben Simon & Sons, Holmes Grocery, Maser's Food Market, Lawlor's, Magee's, J. C. Penny, Sorveall Super Market, Montgomery-Ward, Stop and Shop Market, Cornhusker Market, Demma Super Market, Sears & Roebuck and a Hoiland-Swanson.

Several other Lincoln firms have challenged the constitutionality of the law, and temporary injunctions have been granted Four-Star Drug, Skagway and the QP Store—the suits in which the 15 Lincoln firms filed intervention.

The intervenors contend that if a permanent injunction is granted against LB710, it will be "detrimental to the interest of the intervenors and will give special privileges to the firms which are granted the injunctions."

Unless the law is declared constitutional and valid, other retail businesses will be forced to remain open seven days a

Open Occupancy Seen For Omaha

Omaha (AP) — A member of Omaha's Human Relations Board predicts the city eventually will have practical open occupancy, whether it passes an ordinance or not.

The chairman of the board's housing committee, Louis B. Olson made the prediction while reporting on a survey of the availability of rental housing to minority groups.

Though, he said, a survey is at least 90 days from completion, some general conclusions may be drawn.

These, he said, include: economically, at least, housing is going to get better for minority groups. And as time goes on and more housing becomes available, people are going to be less concerned with the color of a person's skin and more concerned with his money.

Jury Hears Testimony In Slander Suit Against Deputy

A Lancaster District Court jury heard testimony Friday in a $3 million slander suit brought by Attorney Paul Rhodes against Lancaster County Chief Deputy Sheriff Leslie Hasson, Sheriff Merle Karnopp and the bonding company of the two sheriffs.

Judge John Polk dismissed the action against defendants Karnopp and the bonding company on a motion by Deputy County Attorney William Blue and Max Kier who are serving as defense attorneys in the case.

Rhodes, who is representing himself, alleges Hasson made a "false and libelous" statement while serving papers to him at the state Penitentiary April 13, 1962, where he was serving two nine-month terms for contempt of court.

Rhodes put himself on the stand and testified that Hasson stated, "You have been convicted of a crime or you would not be here."

He said the statement caused him severe mental pain and anguish and damaged his reputation as a lawyer.

Hasson testified that he did not make such a statement to Rhodes.

Sunday Law Approval
Wanted By 15 Firms

Fifteen Lincoln business firms have intervened in three Sunday closing injunction suits pending in Lancaster District Court.

3 Get Injunctions

Several other Lincoln firms have challenged the constitutionality of the law, and temporary injunctions have been granted Four-Star Drug, Skagway and the QP Store—the suits in which the 15 Lincoln firms filed intervention.

The intervening firms contend that if a permanent injunction is granted against LB710, it will be "detrimental to the interest of the intervenors and will give special privileges to the firms which are granted the injunctions."

Unless the law is declared constitutional and valid, other retail businesses will be forced to remain open seven days a week for competition reasons and the result will be a seven-day commercial week for retail businesses, the intervening petition states.

"Disrupt Families"

The intervenors also contend that requiring employees to work on Sundays will disrupt family relationship, will result in dissatisfied attitudes of employees toward work and employers, and will have a detrimental effect on the business of the intervenors.

The firms which have challenged the constitutionality of the law, which prohibits the sale of certain commodities on Sunday, contend that the law is an attempt to restrict and control competition within retail business.

Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele gave the plaintiffs in the suits ten days in which to answer the intervenors.

Hearing on permanent injunctions for the three plaintiffs is scheduled Feb. 10, at which time the intervenors are expected to argue for the constitutionality of the law and against granting the permanent injunctions.

LBJ CITES EDDIE CANTOR

Retired comedian Eddie Cantor, 72, right listens as Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California reads a commendation for distinguished service presented by the governor on behalf of President Johnson at Cantor's Hollywood home Friday. The commendation cites Cantor for his services in humanitarian causes. Cantor has been ill and confined to his house for months.

President Gaining In The South

Washington (AP) — President Johnson appears to be making considerable headway in his efforts to enlist influential support in the South for an elective try for the presidency.

Latest to join the ranks of those urging Dixie Democrats to remain loyal to their party are Sens. John Sparkman and Lister Hill of Alabama.

Sparkman and Hill have lined themselves up publicly against a proposal by Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace for selection of unpledged presidential electors in the state's May 5 primary.

Opposition

He has encountered opposition at home in his effort to have Alabama's 38-vote nominating convention delegation pledged to him as a favorite son.

Sparkman and Hill said they are going to back the regular Democratic presidential nominee in November. Both urged the choice of party electors pledged to support the national ticket.

Sparkman said Alabama Democrats "want to vote for their party's candidate and they should be allowed to."

He called for the choice of pledged electors.

Similar

The political assistant given Johnson by Hill and Sparkman was similar to public support the President got from Sens. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and George A. Smathers, D-Fla.

Backstage there were signs that Johnson was making political headway with some other key senators who have not committed themselves publicly to support of the new President or his programs.

Johnson Resigns;
Accepts Position
With Lincoln Firm

Deputy City Tax Assessor Dwight Johnson has resigned effective Feb. 5 to accept a position as real estate appraiser with a Lincoln Savings and loan association.

Johnson, who is also president of the City Employees Association, said Donald Smith, vice president, would assume the duties of the presidency.

Johnson, 27, has been employed two years in the city post.

Jury Hears Testimony In Slander Suit Against Deputy

A Lancaster District Court jury heard testimony Friday in a $3 million slander suit brought by Attorney Paul Rhodes against Lancaster County Chief Deputy Sheriff Leslie Hasson, Sheriff Merle Karnopp and the bonding company of the two sheriffs.

Judge John Polk dismissed the action against defendants Karnopp and the bonding company on a motion by Deputy County Attorney William Blue and Max Kier, who are serving as defense attorneys in the case.

Rhodes, who is representing himself, alleges Hasson made a "false and libelous" statement while serving papers to him at the state Penitentiary April 13, 1962, where he was serving two nine-month terms for contempt of court.

Rhodes put himself on the stand and testified that Hasson stated, "You have been convicted of a crime or you would not be here."

He said the statement caused him severe mental pain and anguish and damaged his reputation as a lawyer.

Hasson testified that he did not make such a statement to Rhodes.

MOSCOW'S MAD KILLER TO BE SHOT

Moscow (AP) — Moscow's "mad killer," Vladimir Ionesyan, has been sentenced to die before a firing squad, Soviet sources reported Friday.

They said his mistress — who allegedly helped him by wiping the blood off his murder axe — reportedly got 15 years in prison.

The 26-year-old Ionesyan, a musical comedy singer, was captured two weeks ago after a block-by-block manhunt. He and his mistress went on trial several days ago at a secret location.

He was accused of killing two women and three boys and of raping a girl.

Standard Oil New Jersey, which this week reported its greatest profit in history and raised the dividend, advanced 1 1/2 points to 42 1/2.

Dwight York Resignation Is Confirmed

Lincoln Star Special

Falls City—The Richardson County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office confirmed Friday that office manager, Dwight York, had resigned to enter private business.

No comment was offered by Richardson county ASCS chairman Dean Vonder-schmidt of Rulo or the state ASCS office concerning the findings of a U.S. Department of Agriculture investigation that has been in progress regarding York's participation in the operation of a Gage County soil bank farm where the government had requested a refund for ineligible acreage that had been included in a government contract.

A report of the investigation had been promised by the state ASCS office in December, but a Friday check with the office revealed that no details regarding the investigation had yet reached the office.

It was reported earlier this month that York had released the contract on the operation of the Gage County farm he had been associated with while employed in the Gage County ASCS office from 1959 to 1963.

N.Y.C. Anti-Segregation School Boycott Still Set

New York (AP) — An anti-segregation boycott of New York's public schools is still set for Monday.

Boycott leaders and the Board of Education got nowhere in a 70-minute negotiation session Friday.

"They don't feel our plan (for correcting racial imbalance) goes far enough and we don't agree," Board President James B. Donovan told reporters after the meeting.

People of Good Will

The Rev. Milton A. Galamison, a Negro Brooklyn minister and head of the city-wide committee for integrated schools, labeling the session "completely unproductive," called on "all people of good will" to join the boycott.

New York's schools have nearly a million students, more than half of them Negro or Puerto Rican.

Donovan said all schools will be open and ordered all teachers and supervisors to report as usual. He urged parents "not to interrupt the education of their children."

The boycott leaders planned to picket public schools, and to set up "freedom schools" in churches, but promised no violence.

The police department was reported bringing in extra men Monday.

Like That

New York's schools are integrated by law, but about 165 schools in the city have mostly Negro and Puerto Rican students because the neighborhoods are like that.

The board recently announced a plan for improving the racial balance in about 30 of the schools over three years by "pairing" adjacent schools, sending all students in the lower grades to one and the upper grades to the other.

Civil rights groups called the plan "inadequate and deceptive," and demanded immediate large-scale exchange of pupils between white and Negro schools.

New Crop Wheat Declines Sharply

At times, declines ranged to around five cents a bushel but some short-covering at those levels reduced losses slightly.

Other grains were mostly steady to weak but soybeans closed with moderate gains.

Dwight York Resignation Is Confirmed

Lincoln Star Special
Falls City—The Richardson County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office confirmed Friday that office manager, Dwight York, had resigned to enter private business.
No comment was offered by Richardson county ASCS chairman Dean Vonder Schmidt of Rulo or the state ASCS office concerning the findings of a U.S. Department of Agriculture investigation that has been in progress regarding York's participation in the operation of a Gage County soil bank farm where the government had requested a refund for ineligible acreage that had been included in a government contract.
A report of the investigation had been promised by the state ASCS office in December, but a Friday check with the office revealed that no details regarding the investigation had yet reached the office.
It was reported earlier this month that York had released the contract on the operation of the Gage County farm he had been associated with while employed in the Gage County ASCS office from 1959 to 1963.
Donovan said all schools will be open and ordered all teachers and supervisors to report as usual. He urged parents "not to interrupt the education of their children."

N.Y.C. Anti-Segregation School Boycott Still Set

New York (P) — An anti-segregation boycott of New York's public schools is still set for Monday.
Boycott leaders and the Board of Education got nowhere in a 70-minute negotiation session Friday.
"They don't feel our plan (for correcting racial imbalance) goes far enough and we don't agree," Board President James B. Donovan told reporters after the meeting.
People of Good Will
The Rev. Milton A. Galamison, a Negro Brooklyn minister and head of the city-wide committee for integrated schools, labeling the session "completely unproductive," called on "all people of good will" to join the boycott.
New York's schools have nearly a million students, more than half of them Negro or Puerto Rican.
Donovan said all schools will be open and ordered all teachers and supervisors to report as usual. He urged parents "not to interrupt the education of their children."

Smokers' Taxes Show Increase

Lincoln (P) — Cigarette tax receipts were up in January over the same month a year ago although fewer packages were sold.
Receipts were $218,814 more than January 1963 although an estimated 677,500 fewer packs were sold.
The cigarette tax division of the State Agriculture Department Friday reported it collected $726,231 in January, compared to only $507,417 the same month last year.
The reason for this discrepancy is explained by an increase in the state cigarette tax from four to six cents a pack effective last June.
It was not clear whether the cigarette tax increase had reduced sales during January since the figures are based on tax stamps sold to wholesalers and do not immediately reflect retail sales.
January revenues were actually up from December, when $710,898 was collected from the same six cent cigarette tax.
Storz Charged With 2 Liquor Violations
The Storz Brewing Co. of Omaha has been charged with two violations of state liquor laws which could result in the suspension or revocation of its brewery license.
The Nebraska Liquor Control Commission Friday set Feb. 14 for a hearing on charges the brewery sold and delivered beer last August 1 to Leon's Restaurant of Bellevue at a time when the restaurant was delinquent more than 30 days on credit for beer purchases in violation of state liquor regulations.
Storz is also charged with selling equipment to Leon's Restaurant on Sept. 20 contrary to the liquor laws.

The State Health Board committee assigned to study ways of discouraging teenage smoking asserted Friday it does not favor selling its anti-puffing program through legislation.

"The committee is firm in its belief that an improvement in our smoking habits must be brought about through education and not through legislation," a committee statement said.

The group met with Dr. George E. Pickett, director of the chronic disease control division of the State Health Department, to begin laying the groundwork for initiation of an anti-smoking program among Nebraska's youth.

"Cigarette smoking is a health hazard of sufficient importance in Nebraska to warrant an earnest attempt to study and understand why some people begin to smoke, why some continue and why some stop," the committee said.

The statement said the committee is exploring the possibility of seeking the help of behavioral scientists in Nebraska to conduct studies into the reasons why people begin to smoke.

Dr. Pickett, who gave up cigarette smoking after reading a research report before a federal research panel condemning cigarette smoking earlier this month, said an action program is needed before public apathy sets in.

Penalty Is Reduced For Slayer Of Cab Driver

The Nebraska Supreme Court Friday reduced the death penalty against Ewath-er Hall to life imprisonment but upheld his conviction of first degree murder by a Douglas County District Court jury in the slaying of an Omaha cabdriver.

Hall, 21, was charged along with Curtis Eugene Rowland of killing cab driver Albert Alfred Anderson while attempting to rob him the night of Dec. 9, 1961.

Rowland confessed to the crime and Hall's attorney sought and got a separate trial. He was found guilty and sentenced to death in the electric chair at the State Penitentiary.

The Supreme Court noted testimony in the trial brought out the fact that Hall has an I.Q. of 64 "which placed the defendant in the defective classification of mental ability." The Supreme Court took this into consideration in reducing the penalty.

"We believe, from a review of the record that the interests of society do not demand that the death penalty be inflicted. It appears to us that life imprisonment is adequate punishment for the offense."

"Consideration of all the circumstances, that is, the age of the defendant, that he is a feeble-minded person, a low-grade moron or a high-grade imbecile, passive in nature, possessed of a disposition to follow the lead of others, and who previously had no offense charged against him, indicated that the reduction of the death penalty to one of life imprisonment is warranted," the opinion said.

St. Barnabas Ordered To Return $1,000 Contribution

The Nebraska Supreme Court Friday ordered the wardens and vestrymen of St. Barnabas Church in Omaha to return a $1,000 contribution to the estate of Elizabeth A. Barker.

The decision reversed the Douglas County District Court which had held Joseph Barker Jr., who had brought the suit as executor of his deceased mother's estate, was not the proper party to file such an action.

He asked for a return of the money to the St. Barnabas Building Fund on the grounds the church officials decided to abandon the project, "sell the new site purchased by the fund contributed, return the contributions to those requesting them and use the remainder for other purposes."

In other rulings Friday the court:

—Affirmed a $10,000 judgment by a Lancaster County District Court jury against the city of Lincoln in a land condemnation case.

The award was made to Julia Dawson and other owners and operators of the Circle Drive-in restaurant at 4400 "O" which was condemned for a road widening project.

The city contended the trial court erred in permitting Mrs. Dawson to give an opinion to the jury about the market value of the property.

—Overturned a $25,000 Douglas County District Court jury award in favor of Evelyn Jeffries against Safeway Stores for injuries suffered in an accident at one of Safeway's Omaha stores.

The Supreme Court ruled "there was no evidence that defendant (Safeway) failed in its duty to use reasonable care to keep its store in a reasonably safe condition." It ordered the district court to dismiss the suit.

—Affirmed with modifications the interpretation by the Cass County District Court of the will of the late Harry Hauschild.

Harold Hauschild, a son, brought the action for a declaratory judgment against his mother, Emma Hauschild, and two sisters, Gertrude, the Supreme Court ruled that Emma Hauschild is entitled to a third of her husband's land with the children sharing the rest.

—Reversed the dismissal by the Douglas County District Court of a motor vehicle liability suit and ordered a trial in the case.

Albert Rasmussen. The suit was filed against him.

—Upheld the Douglas County District Court in ordering a new trial in a divorce suit.

Luella Ioon sought the new trial after her husband Jessie J. Ioon had been awarded their four children in the first trial.

Romans, a former state senator, is considering a race for governor but has not formally filed.
